

An aerial photograph of a vineyard in autumn. The rows of grapevines are arranged in a grid pattern across rolling hills. The surrounding forest is in full autumn foliage, with trees in shades of orange, yellow, and red. A winding road cuts through the vineyard, and several small buildings are visible. The sky is a soft, hazy blue, suggesting a clear day.

WINE LIST

Welcome to the 2024 Matthew Clark Wine List

We are excited to share this year's fantastic wine range, packed with everything from premium, well-loved classics, through to quality value for money and the very latest trends.

This year's wine list has been refined to ensure we optimise changing tastes and trends. The prominence of drinks-led occasions (up from 26% in 2022, to 36% in 2023) means customers are gravitating towards easy-drinking styles and are drinking familiar grapes when out in the trade. As we see the popularity of Sauvignon Blanc increase and also the growth of wines from New Zealand, we are excited to introduce Yealands Estates to our portfolio. Yealands Estates' Seaview Vineyard is located in Marlborough's prominent winemaking region of the Awatere Valley, with their wines being inspired by the coast that surrounds them.

While California wines are still the most common US wines seen in the trade, 2023 saw an increasing number of premium restaurants featuring more wines from other US wine regions. So, the addition of Chateau Ste. Michelle Wine Estates to our portfolio couldn't have come at a better time. A highlight from their portfolio is Chateau Ste. Michelle, pioneers of the Washington State wine region, and a producer who showcases the very best of wines from the US.

As you make your way through our wine list, look out for all the latest additions that are clearly highlighted as 'new'. We also shine a light on the winemakers in our portfolio who prioritise the well-being of the planet and their community. See the 'Impact' section to find out about our own company initiatives that put sustainability at the heart of our business.

For more information on any of our wines or producers head to matthewclark.co.uk. Please get in touch with your account manager for any support on how to optimise your wine list.

Cheers!

Meet Our Buyers

Our team of experienced Buyers scour the world ensuring an unrivalled portfolio of wines and producers.

Andy Craig,
Fine Wine, Bordeaux, Provence, England, Champagne

Andy has worked in the Buying team for over 10 years and his role is how we take the groups already highly regarded Fine Wine proposition to the next level, including its pioneering Bordeaux Collection. His appointment underlines our commitment to continue to put fine and premium wine at the heart of our customer proposition. Andy loves nothing more than seeking out new, small wineries with great stories behind them.

Christine Barkey,
Wine Buyer for France (Alsace, Burgundy, Loire, Rhône, South of France)

Christine has over 11 years' experience in wine across On and Off Trade, including her most recent role as 'Wine Club' buyer for a leading wine specialist. She has experience buying across all regions with a focus on France, Spain, Italy, and most recently, Portugal, Eastern Europe and Southern Mediterranean. Christine will drive the sustainability agenda, and spearhead innovation across the group's much admired French wine portfolio.

Jamie Avenell,
Wine Buying Director & Wine Buyer for Italy

Jamie has been buying with the business for over 15 years now, covering many countries around the world. Currently, he oversees the team's buying for the Northern Hemisphere and holds direct responsibility for Italy, a country he finds one of the most exciting to explore, describing our Italian range as "unrivalled" and comprised of "world-renowned producers, classic big hitters, and some hidden gems to boot". Beyond work hours, Jamie is kept busy studying for the MW qualification, something he finds great fun but also a challenge to fit in around work, family and anything else there is time left for!

Richard Masterson,
Buyer for South America, USA and Spain

Richard first worked in wine as a sommelier at the Ubiquitous Chip restaurant in Glasgow, before working in Buying and Sales roles for a variety of wine importers. He joined Matthew Clark six years ago as a Beer buyer, but soon got reacquainted with his first love when he moved into the wine team.

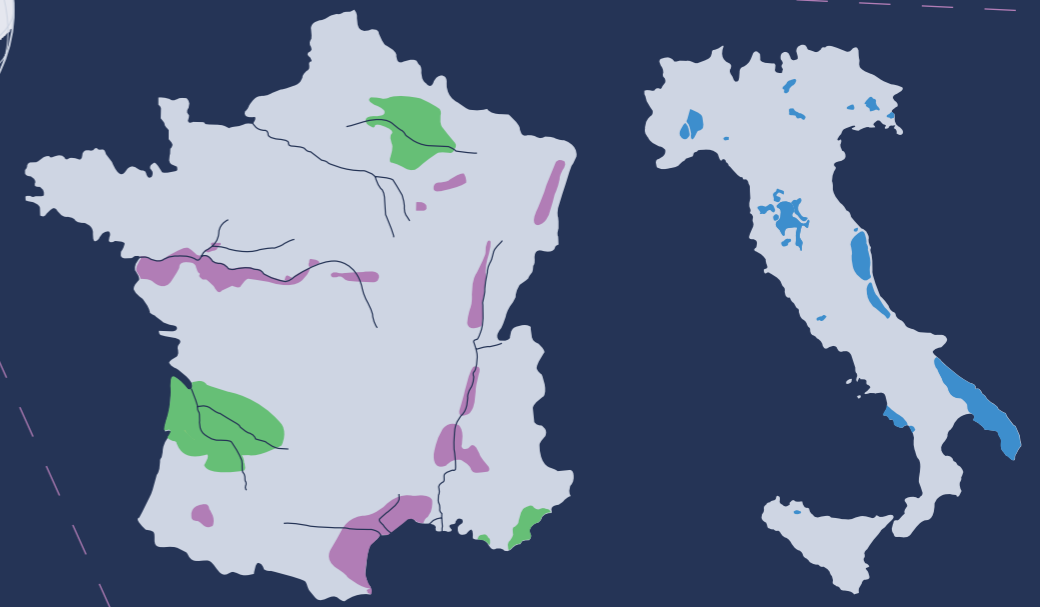

Rebecca Long,
Junior Buyer for South Africa, Central & Eastern Europe, Portugal and Canada

Rebecca has great experience in commercial wine roles, including a stint at one of the UK's leading wine specialists. During her time in the Wine Trade Marketing team over the past three years, she has built close relationships with key suppliers. Rebecca now has an exciting portfolio of origins to shine a light on in her Buying role.

Clio Giudici,
Junior Buyer for Australia, New Zealand, Sherry and Sake

Clio has had great success in looking after, amongst others, Australia and New Zealand as Trade Marketing Manager. Her move to Buying was a natural transition for Clio. She has built a wealth of commercial wine knowledge in her career, which included a role as group wine buyer for '28-50 Restaurant' and having worked both as a winemaker and wine buyer whilst living in Australia.

The Latest Additions

The Buying team at Matthew Clark are always on the lookout for exciting new additions to our range, and we're excited to introduce the new producers that have recently joined our portfolio. Welcome to the class of 2024!

Chateau Ste. Michelle Wine Estates

Catena Family Wines

Amandla

Yealands Estate

Champagne Palmer & Co

Boissy & Delaygue

Santa Margherita

Chateau Ste. Michelle Wine Estates USA

Chateau Ste. Michelle Wine Estates is one of the USA's most well-respected wine companies. Their portfolio features some of the leading wineries from the world's most renowned wine regions, with each estate having the freedom to fully explore the unique growing conditions and individual winemaking practices that give the wines their extraordinary character.

This includes Chateau Ste. Michelle, pioneers of the Washington wine region, and founded at a time when many people thought great wine only came from Italy – or California.

Wine Buyer comment:

"Chateau Ste. Michelle Wine Estates adds real colour to our American portfolio. The breadth of winemaking showcases the very best that the States has to offer."

Richard Masterson,
Buyer for South America, USA and Spain

Catena Family Wines Argentina

It is nearly impossible to talk about Argentinean wine without someone mentioning either Laura and Nicolas Catena or their wines. Nicola Catena, Nicolas Catena Zapata's grandfather, planted his first Malbec vineyard in Mendoza in 1092, suspecting the Bordeaux blending grape would find its hidden splendour in the Argentine Andes.

A trio of Catena wines are introduced to the portfolio with a restyled label and lighter weight Catena Malbec reaching our shores in the Summer. The 28% lighter bottle is part of Catena's focus on environmental sustainability. From the high-elevation vineyards at the foot of the Andes, the three Alamos wines are crafted to create flavourful, approachable, and authentically Argentine wines.

Wine Buyer comment:

"We are thrilled to introduce a selection of Catena Family Wines to the Matthew Clark portfolio. Their focus on sustainability, being the first certified sustainable winery in Argentina, fits well with the increasingly conscious consumer."

Amandla South Africa

Progressive South African wine brand, Amandla, was created by Adama Wines, a majority black-owned and 100% black female-run business, headed by winemaker and Amandla CEO, Praisi Dlamini. The business is run by a dynamic team of black wine industry women, from the winemaker, the viticulturist and the QC, to marketing, finance and logistics.

Five wines have been introduced into the portfolio: a Shiraz Zinfandel, Sauvignon Blanc and Blush, along with a Chenin Blanc and Pinotage Malbec produced from vineyards in the Western Cape.

Wine Buyer comment:

"Appealing to a new generation of wine drinkers, Amandla has already made waves in the off-trade and we're confident that with their powerful story and excellent wines, they will be a hit with our on-trade customers."

Rebecca Long,
Junior Buyer for South Africa, Central & Eastern Europe, Portugal and Canada

Yealands Estate New Zealand

Yealands Estate is located in the Awatere Valley, and is one of New Zealand's most coastal vineyards. Sustainability is at the heart of the Yealands winemaking philosophy, from the careful management of their vines and land, to the way they sustainably operate their winery, and craft their wines. They were also the first winery in the world to be 'Toitū carbonzero' certified.

It is no surprise that their portfolio is award-winning, with their strength lying in aromatic white varieties – their Single Block and Single Vineyard ranges medal regularly in global wine competitions.

Wine Buyer comment:

"Yealands commitment to sustainability is unparalleled and they are real trailblazers. The diverse nature of their portfolio makes them a perfect fit for Matthew Clark."

Clio Giudici,
Junior Buyer for Australia, New Zealand, Sherry and Sake

Champagne Palmer & Co France

Deep beneath the chalky substrate of Reims, lies one of Champagne's shining stars: the elegant bubbles of Palmer & Co. Famous for its generously aged Champagnes, nothing is rushed in this cellar, with all non-vintage cuvees aged for at least three years.

The winery was born from a collective of growers who came together in 1947 with a shared vision for making ultra-premium wine. Now, their vineyards stretch across 415ha of land. Of this, 200ha encompass 40 crus in the Montagne de Reims, with vineyards classified as Premier and Grand Crus.

Wine Buyer comment:

"Palmer & Co distinguishes itself through the grands terroirs of the Montagne de Reims, where all its vineyards are classified as Premier or Grand Cru. It's a Champagne House known throughout the industry for its amazing quality. This was further confirmed in 2023 with them winning no less than 11 awards at the Champagne and Sparkling Wine World Championships, including a Chairmans Trophy for the Rose Solera and World Champion for its Blanc de Noir. Palmer & Co is also renowned for its incredible Vintage Collection which offers a selection of rare vintages direct from its cellar in Reims. This year we're excited to offer Champagnes going all the way back to 1979."

Andy Craig,
Fine Wine, Bordeaux, Provence, England, Champagne

Boissy & Delaygue France

Established in 1894 in Cornas, Boissy & Delaygue has specialised in discovering exceptional terroirs. Their profound understanding of Rhône, spans from the Northern Rhône to the slopes of Mount Ventoux. Over the years, Boissy & Delaygue has evolved into a benchmark of excellence. Each wine crafted by them reflects a distinct individuality, showcasing the most exquisite expression of grape varieties.

The success of Boissy & Delaygue is rooted in the shared values and collaboration between the winegrowers and the expertise of two master winemakers, ensuring complete control from vine to glass.

Wine Buyer comment:

"A beacon of excellence within the Union des Vignerons des Côtes du Rhône, Boissy & Delaygue bring decades of expertise, working with diverse terroirs and producing wines that are a joy to taste. With a pioneering spirit and commitment to sustainable viticulture, Boissy and Delaygue is an exciting addition to the Matthew Clark portfolio."

Christine Barkey,
Wine Buyer for France (Alsace, Burgundy, Loire, Rhône, South of France)

Santa Margherita Italy

Santa Margherita was born back in 1935, in the region where alpine rivers cut through sun-drenched hills on their winding journey to the Mediterranean. It's founder, Gaetano Marzotto, dreamed of people, nature, and technology working in synergy. He famously named his winery after his wife, Margherita.

Gaetano pioneered the modern wine making methods of both Prosecco and Pinot Grigio, decades before the wines became a must have on all wine lists, and they are seen as a benchmark of quality and innovation for the category.

Wine Buyer comment:

"Santa Margherita is the best selling premium Pinot Grigio in both the US and Italy, and for good reason. All too often we look at Pinot Grigio as entry point wine, but with consumers thirst for it, not having a more premium branded option is a missed opportunity and Santa Margherita are leading the global consumer led success story for this."

Jamie Avenell,
Wine Buying Director & Wine Buyer for Italy

Matthew Clark

Customers value sustainability and expect businesses to care too. IMPACT is our space to talk about how our networks, range, and people are working towards a more sustainable future.

We work hard to make sure that our wine range reflects our company values, by selecting a diverse range of wines made with care. We love sharing the amazing stories from suppliers who are working towards organic or biodynamic certifications or carbon neutrality. We are also excited to work with producers going down a less conventional route by, for example, planting native flora to promote biodiversity or reducing electricity usage by using gravity assisted pumping in the winery.

Sustainability in our RANGE

We are working with our supply chain to reduce Scope 3 emissions – which are affected by purchased goods, transportation and distribution. Considering wider social and ethical, as well as environmental issues, this approach includes asking our partners to sign up to our Code of Conduct and Modern Slavery policy, and report their emissions data via CDP, encouraging them to set science-based emissions reduction targets, and engaging the supply chain to understand how they manage their climate risks.

“The world is changing, and we need to change with it. We are striving to embed a sustainable approach in everything we do. It’s a cultural and behavioural change, and not just a tick box exercise.”

George Kyle,
Head of ESG for C&C Group.

Sustainability in our network

At Matthew Clark, we believe that sustainability needs to be embraced at every step of the value chain. Look out for our low-emission Euro VI vehicles across more than 90% of our fleet. We’ve also installed solar technology on the roofs of some of our trucks, which proactively reduces the fuel and emissions of each vehicle.

As part of C&C Group, we’ve set ambitious greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets, which have been approved and validated by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi). This entails reducing our SCOPE 1 and 2 emissions by 35% and SCOPE 3 emissions by 25% by 2030 and a pledge to be a carbon neutral business by 2050.

* SCOPE 1 All Direct Emissions from the activities of an organisation or under their control;

SCOPE 2 Indirect Emissions from electricity purchased and used by the organisation;

SCOPE 3 All Other Indirect Emissions (purchased goods and services, upstream and downstream transportation and distribution).

Leadership in the industry

As leaders in the drinks trade, we actively contribute to the industry’s sustainable advancement. Matthew Clark are proud partners of the Harpers Sustainability Charter. The Charter requires signatories to track their progress in key areas of sustainability, demonstrating their commitment to deliver a sustainable future for the UK drinks trade.

As a part of the C&C Group, we are committed to the goals of delivering to a better world. Within our organisation, there is a strong emphasis on the wellbeing of our people, with dedicated colleague groups focused on Mental Wellbeing, Physical Wellbeing and Working Parents. To date, C&C has trained over 150 Mental Health First Aiders (MHFAs), with the aim to have 1 MHFA for every 20 colleagues by the end of 2024.

A Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Advisory Group has been established to ensure we attract and retain colleagues who reflect the diverse nature of society and engage and inspire colleagues to be the best version of themselves.

C&C Group also has a three-year partnership with the Big Issue Group to make a meaningful difference in tackling the complex social issues of homelessness, poverty, addiction and mental health.

Vinonomics

UK wine pricing uncovered

Working closely with our in-house insights team PROOF, we can help ensure you're always ahead of the competition when it comes to drinks trends, duty changes and more.

The drinks and hospitality industry has seen a complete overhaul of alcohol duty, which took effect on 1 August 2023.

According to WSTA, the forecast for RPI at 10.1% has been used as the measure for increasing duty rates on all non-draft products. Generally speaking, this reform means that the higher the alcohol per volume (ABV) of wine, the higher the new duty rate.

Most wine has seen an increase of £0.44 per 75cl bottle or a 20% increase in the duty paid (£2.67 vs the current £2.23). This increase is valid for wines with an ABV between 11.5% and 14.5%.

Wines with an ABV above 15% sees a duty increase of £0.97 (+44%) per 75cl bottle, and this increase gets bigger the higher the alcohol – fortified wine of +20% ABV sees a whopping £1.30 increase (duty of £4.28) per 75cl bottle.

On the upside, wine under 11.5% ABV is treated more favourably. Duty on wine at 10% ABV, for example, is £0.09 less than the previous rate (at £2.14 per 75cl bottle).

The further abolishment of separate duty rates for sparkling and still wine means that a bottle of Champagne or sparkling wine will now have its duty reduced by £0.19, bringing it down to £2.67 and in line with a still bottle of wine.

Powered by PROOF

*Excise duty as per the median ABV of a bottle of wine at 12.5%.

All figures are indicative, based on a "typical" bottle of wine and do not include CCT. In reality margins, packaging and logistics differ depending on the businesses and products involved, but the overall picture will still be the same. *Average cost 75cl Still Wine. Top Wine Trends for 2024

Powered by PROOF Insight, we've pulled together some of the key wine trends to look out for in 2024. Here's our top 10!

1. Value for money important for customers looking to enjoy wine when out in the on-trade

Customers are seeking products or services that help them save money or provide added value. For wine, this may mean opting for a glass of wine, rather than splashing out on a bottle, so your by-the-glass offering is increasingly important. You can reach these value-centric customers in a variety of ways, serving wine by-the-glass from a bottle, draught, or 'bag-in-box'.

Consider food and wine bundles, such as a burger and Malbec, or fixed price menus to help customers manage their budget on an evening out. Early bird specials and rewards for your most loyal customers will help encourage repeat visits.

2. Familiar grapes remain popular

With drinks-led occasions increasing and by-the-glass offerings becoming more important, customers are leaning towards drinking familiar styles when out. 78% of customers say that being familiar with the style is important when choosing wine in the on-trade.

66% of on-trade still wine volume comes from the leading 5 grapes: Pinot Grigio, Sauvignon Blanc, Merlot, Chardonnay, and Syrah/Shiraz. These easy-drinking, crowd-pleasers are versatile enough to be enjoyed on a range of occasions.

Powered by PROOF

3. Easy drinking white and rosé, powered by more drink-led visits to pubs

We saw a change in drinking habits in 2023, with an increasing number of people opting for drinks-led occasions over food (up from 26% in 2022, to 36% in 2023).

The prominence of drinks-led occasions means customers are gravitating even more towards easy-drinking styles and are drinking more familiar grapes when out in the trade, like Pinot Grigio and Sauvignon Blanc. Although Italian Pinot Grigio Blush and French rosé have strengthened their share, origins including New Zealand and Portugal are ones to watch for alternative rosé.

GENERATION Wine

4. Generation Wine: Engaging young wine drinkers

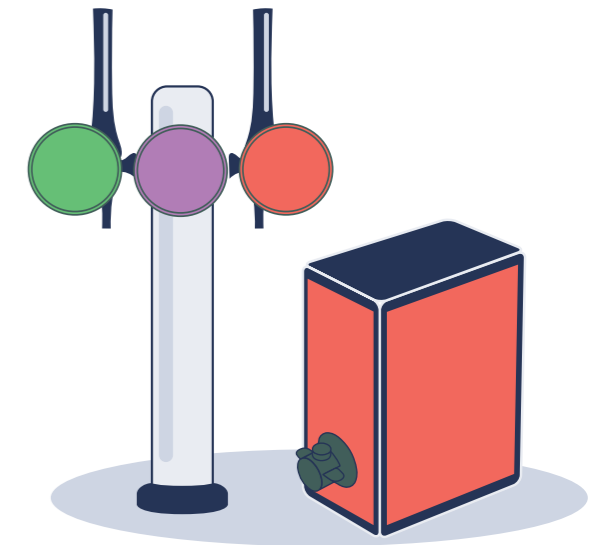

Younger consumers are driving the trade, with the 18–34 age group most likely to increase their visits throughout 2024. 63% of wine drinkers don't class themselves as being 'very confident' when choosing wine on-trade. However, 75% of Gen Zs like to try new drinks when they go out, compared to just 47% of older consumers.

Menu nudges, such as enticing wine descriptions, and staff recommendations, will help drive engagement within the category.

Wine lists that are varied and offer something unique will help encourage younger consumers to branch out. Menu nudges that call out new or limited time only products can also play on young wine drinkers' willingness to explore and encourage return visits.

5. Alternative wine formats becoming more important to reach value-centric customers

Alternative wine formats are set for renewed focus in 2024, with draught and 'bag-in-box' the perfect solution for maintaining an interesting wine by-the-glass selection. Add to this the increased speed of serve, reduced wastage and the eco-friendly nature of these formats and you can see the benefits of moving some of your list away from traditional bottles.

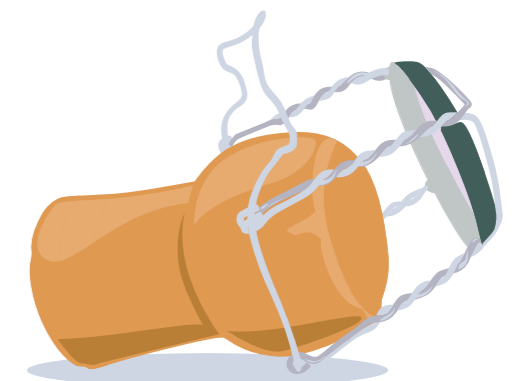

6. Portugal's time to shine

Portugal has a diverse and rich heritage of blends which traditionally combine an array of indigenous grape varieties. These blends are appearing on an increasing number of premium wine lists and the interest is extending into the mainstream, with Portuguese still wine showing +7.8% growth in the last 12 months. Vinho Verde, a refreshing wine from Portugal's Minho region, is one to watch in 2024.

7. Alternatives to Champagne

Champagne sales have been fizzling of late, with a 22% volume decline in the GB on-trade (2023 vs 2022). The good news is that alternative sparkling wines, such as English Sparkling and Franciacorta that are produced in similar ways and can sell at a more affordable price tag, are gaining favour across the on-trade.

Climate change and warmer temperatures has seen the quality of English wines increase in recent years. Combined with the 'buy local' movement which sees produce from closer to home as more environmentally and socially responsible, and we are likely to see sales of English wine continue to sparkle in the years ahead.

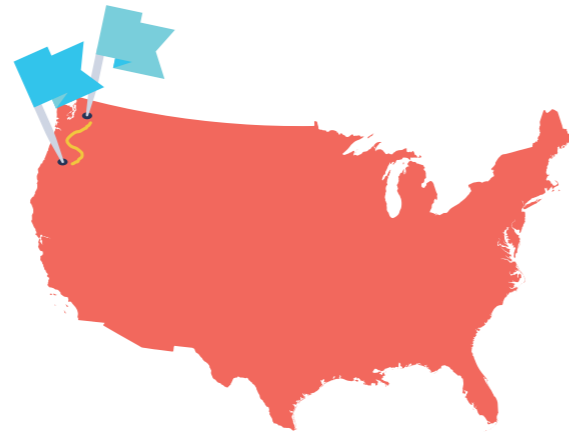

8. South Africa's Chenin Blanc growing in popularity

Considered South Africa's signature grape, the appeal of Chenin Blanc is growing, with sales growth of 4.4% (volume) in the last year. Winemakers from the region are showcasing the potentials of this versatile grape and are paying particular attention to old vines. These older vines often yield age-worthy and complex wines of exceptional quality.

9. Journey through the USA

Typically, a US wine on the list meant one from California. However, 2023 saw an increasing number of premium restaurants featuring more wines from other US wine regions. Listings from neighbouring states Oregon, particularly Pinot Noir from Willamette Valley, and Syrah from Washington State's Walla Walla Valley are gaining prominence.

10. From Piedmont to Trentino-Alto Adige: customers increasingly drawn to Italian wines

The Italian staples - Prosecco, Italian Blush and Pinot Grigio - have all shown volume growth in the last year. So too have wines from the region of Piedmont, surely Italy's most exciting wine region. Home to Nebbiolo which produces world-famous Barolos and Barbarescos, Piedmont offers a diverse range of native grape varieties. Wine lists are showcasing the diversity from this classic region with more listings of Barbera, Arneis, Freisa and Grignolino appearing in premium venues.

Wine Expressions

The wines in our list have been assigned a Wine Expression icon to help our customers better understand the wine's style at a glance.

Every wine is unique and some will fit more naturally into a Wine Expression category than others. Where a product could reasonably fit into more than one category, we've tried to select an icon based on its most prominent characteristics.

-  Dry, refreshing, delicate, light whites
-  Zesty, herbaceous or aromatic whites
-  Juicy, fruit-driven, ripe whites
-  Elegant, intricate, mineral-laced whites
-  Full-flavoured, nutty, oaked whites

Wine Symbols

S – Screwcap wines

Wines that either presently have a screwcap closure, or which will change to screwcap in the next 12 months.

V – Vegetarian

Wines made without the use of gelatine or fish products as fining agents.

VG – Vegan

Wines made without the use of animal products as fining agents. Traditionally this would be egg whites, casein – a milk protein – gelatine or fish products.

OP – Organic Practices

There are many wines in our range that are using organically and/or biodynamically grown grapes but have not currently gone through the lengthy process of organic certification, or are happy to just farm this way without certification. These wines will not state Organic or Biodynamic in the name of the wine but can be identified by the symbol.

OC – Organic Certified

Wines that are certified in their country of origin as organic: using only organic grapes and ensuring any additives are also organic.

EP – Ethical Practices

Highlights activities carried out by producers we represent that come under a wide ethical umbrella. These vary from vineyard-focused pest control regimes to activities designed to reduce the impact on global resources.

NEW – New wines

Wines that have recently been added to the Matthew Clark portfolio.

Vineyard practices can change with each vintage. At time of print we are passing on our suppliers current information. Please check with your account manager for vintage updates.

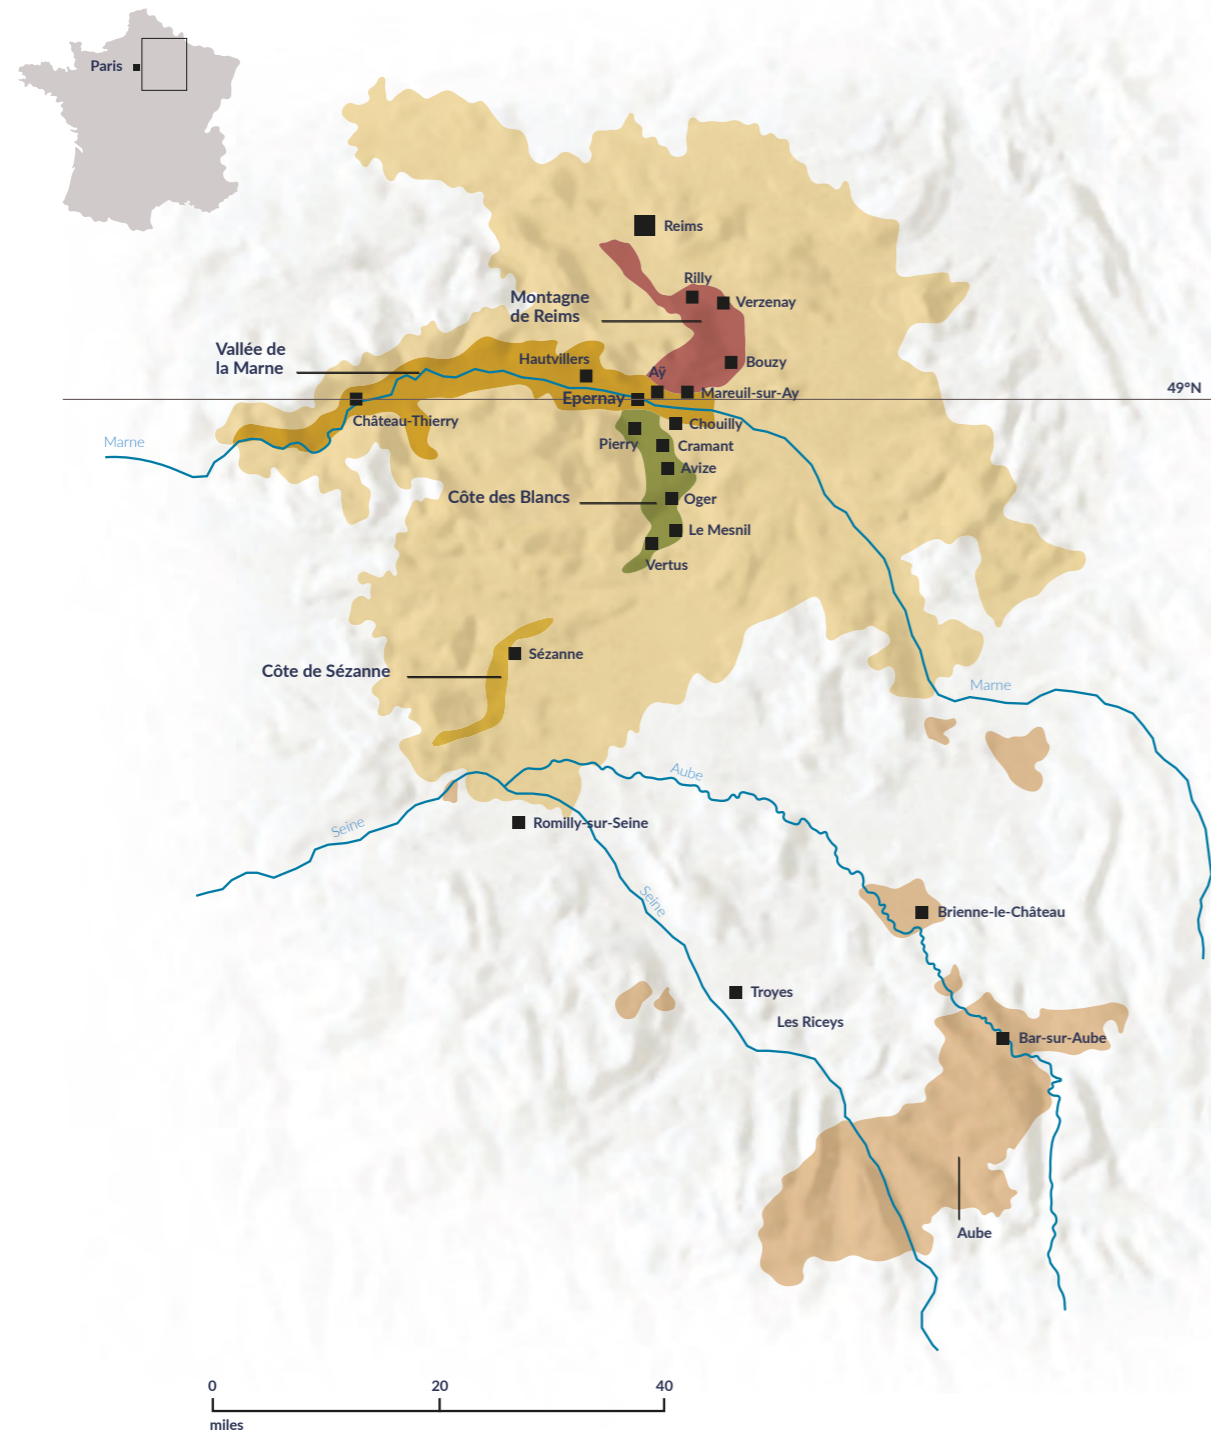

Champagne

Champagne is famous for making Sparkling wine using the traditional method. They are considered some of the most prestigious sparkling wines in the world.

The wines usually have toasty, biscuity notes from their long period of lees aging, alongside characteristics of green apple and citrus.

The main grape varieties used to make Champagne are Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier. The most prestigious examples will be labelled Grand Cru or Premier Cru.

Champagne

Styles of Champagne

The most widely-made style is non-vintage (NV) made to reflect the house style: the blend, length of maturation, dosage and amount of reserve wines, from older vintages used all influence the outcome. Vintage wines, only made in the best years, reflect the individual year: a very warm year will show more fruit character. Rosés can be made either by addition of red wine or by the saignée method, allowing some colour to bleed out from the skins during vinification. Finally the 'prestige cuvées' are the house's best wines, made from grapes from the best vineyards.

Traditional Method

This method of producing sparkling wine involves a second fermentation that happens inside the bottle. As this wine has a lot of contact with the yeast used to begin the second fermentation, it produces sparkling wines which have flavours of biscuit, toast, brioche and pastry.

CHAMPAGNE PALMER & CO.

Founded in 1947 and historically established in Reims, Champagne Palmer & Co is solidly rooted in the greatest terroirs of the Montagne de Reims with over 200 hectares of vineyards classified as Premier and Grand Crus.

Dominated by the freshness and purity of Chardonnay, the Palmer & Co style seduces with its precision and elegance. The significant part of reserve wines and the prolonged ageing give it a rare fullness and maturity.

Maintaining their commitment to the environment, Palmer & Co are dedicated to sustainable winegrowing, following a demanding action plan, from soil and vine nutrition, soil maintenance, treatment of the vines, sustainable protection of the vineyards and waste management.

Recognised throughout the world for the excellence and elegance of its wines, Palmer & Co is one of the top-quality references of Champagne today.

MOËT & CHANDON

Moët & Chandon was founded in 1743 by Claude Moët, whose innovative and pioneering spirit made his Champagne one of the most sought-after in Europe. To this day, each Champagne dazzles and delights with bright fruitiness, an enticing palate, and an elegant maturity.

As the House's signature cuvée, Moët Impérial is its most comprehensive and universal expression. This Champagne is a perfectly executed blend of over 200 crus, mingling the full body of Pinot Noir with the suppleness of Meunier and the finesse of Chardonnay.

TAITTINGER

Champagne Taittinger is one of the last Grande Marque Champagne House's to be owned and managed by the family named on the label.

Ranked as the 15th best vineyard in the world and the third largest growers in the region with 288ha of vineyards, they remain pioneers of natural vineyard management, 90% of their vineyards are planted with grass between rows to negate the need for herbicides. Chardonnay is the hallmark variety at Taittinger, producing wines of elegance, delicacy, and finesse.

Sparkling Wine

The popularity of sparkling wine continues to grow, fuelled by its association with celebrations, its versatility, and its ability to evoke a sense of elegance and festivity.

There are many different styles of sparkling wine which can vary based on factors such as grape varieties used, production methods, and regional traditions. From Spain's Cava to Italy's Prosecco, and English fizz, there are a growing number of sparkling wines from around the world that are of exceptional quality and can sell at a more affordable price tag to Champagne.

Sparkling Wine

Tank/Charmat

In the Charmat or Tank method, the second fermentation occurs in a large stainless steel tank. The resulting wines don't have any biscuity or bready flavours found in Traditional Method wines. This method is used to produce aromatic and fruity styles of sparkling wine, such as Prosecco and Moscato d'Asti.

English Sparkling

A relative newcomer to the wine scene, English Sparkling wine grows in popularity every year. With the same production methods, grape varieties and climate as Champagne you can expect these wines to taste very similar with characteristics of toast and biscuit, alongside fruity notes like citrus and green apple.

Cava

Cava is Spain's most famous style of sparkling wine. It can be made from a number of local and international grape varieties, including Chardonnay. Like Champagne, Cava is made using the traditional method, so you can expect yeasty flavours of bread and biscuits, alongside citrus fruit character. Wines additionally labelled 'Corpinnat' are produced with stricter rules and regulations and must be made from organic grapes.

New World

Just like Europe, New World countries make an array of sparkling wines in various styles. Most of the premium sparkling wines that come out of the New World tend to be made using the traditional method and generally use Chardonnay and Pinot Noir. There's also more inexpensive styles of sparkling wine in the New World made using the tank method. Sparkling Sauvignon Blanc from New Zealand is a great example of this.

Prosecco

Prosecco is a sparkling wine that comes from Veneto, in Northern Italy and it is made using the tank method. Made from the Glera grape variety, this fruity and aromatic style of sparkling wine often has aromas and flavours of peach, pear and floral notes. Prosecco is often a little bit sweeter than other styles of sparkling wine, making it very easy-drinking.

BOTTEGA ITALY

Bottega SpA, an award-winning estate, boasting a history of over 4 centuries in vineyard cultivation, produces high quality sparkling and still wines, grappa, and liqueurs.

By choosing simple, natural flavours and nurturing a strong connection with the land, they have gained a reputation for unique and innovative wines. Bottega Gold and Bottega Rose Gold are of course renowned for their distinctive bottles.

With a firm commitment to sustainability, they recycle siliconised paper, use dark bottles made from at least 50% recycled glass, choose water-based paint for metalized bottles, follow organic farming criteria in the vineyards, and incorporate recycled ocean plastics. Crafted with artisan care, every bottle of Bottega is made with unique ingredients and a great attention to detail, reflecting their unwavering dedication to quality and sustainability.

SANTA MARGHERITA

ITALY

Santa Margherita has been a cutting-edge winery ever since its inception back in 1935. Founder, Gaetano Marzotto, dreamed of modernised agriculture - uniting people, nature and technology.

Santa Margherita was one of the first wineries to produce sparkling wine from Glera grapes in the 1950s, in the area around Conegliano-Valdobbiadene, now the cradle of Prosecco Superiore DOCG. Now, their "Metodo Santa Margherita" (Santa Margherita Method), brings new life and a unique twist to their range of Prosecco Superiore DOCG wines.

ENGLAND

For over 35 years, Nyetimber has had a single aim: crafting exceptional English sparkling wine that rivals the very best in the world. A true pioneer, Nyetimber was the first producer of English sparkling wine to exclusively grow the three celebrated grape varieties: Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Pinot Meunier. Nyetimber has 11 vineyards spanning 372 hectares in West Sussex, Hampshire, and Kent and is served in some of the world's most renowned locations.

GRAHAM BECK

SOUTH AFRICA

Graham Beck has firmly established themselves as one of the world's leading Cap Classique Sparkling wine producers.

Situated in the Robertson Wine Valley, the area's outstanding climate and rich limestone soils proved to be ideal for the cultivation of Chardonnay and Pinot Noir, two of the classic varieties used for the base wines intended for the Cap Classique range. The award-winning range of Sparkling wines is revered around the globe for their inimitable versatility and sheer drinking pleasure.

From the MDCV portfolio of wines, Harlot aims to shake up the status quo and redefine English wine with charm and some much-needed audacious spirit.

With a passion for sustainability, the team manages their vineyards in Essex sympathetically, employing pioneering techniques to minimise their impact on the environment, such as composting organic waste, harvesting rainwater and heating sites using natural sources, such as ground source heat pumps.

SILVERHAND ESTATE

ENGLAND

Nestled in the heart of the picturesque Kent countryside, Silverhand Estate is a hidden gem that offers a unique blend of natural beauty and rich heritage. As pioneers of English wine, they have established the largest single organic vineyard in the UK, spanning over 500 acres.

Organic farming practices prioritise soil health and biodiversity, and with terroir akin to that of Champagne, their grapes flourish, yielding exceptional Sparkling and still wines.

From their entry-level Charmat offering, Silver Reign, to their flagship Traditional Method Pinot Noir, KYNG, with Silverhand, the future is Sparkling.

Argentina

Argentina stands among the world's leading wine-producing nations. Malbec dominates as the most planted and popular grape variety, showcasing the country's distinctive style. Additionally, Argentina cultivates key varieties like Bonarda and Torrontes, alongside international grapes such as Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay.

The nation's wines are notably shaped by altitude, with vineyards situated at varying elevations. This altitude-induced slower ripening process contributes to wines with vibrant acidity and a pure expression of fruit flavours. Argentina's vinicultural landscape, characterised by its diverse grape varieties and high-altitude terroirs, has earned global acclaim for producing wines of exceptional quality and character.

Argentina

Mendoza

Mendoza is the most well-known of all wine producing provinces in Argentina. The altitude and very dry conditions produce deep coloured, full-bodied black fruit flavoured wines, with bright freshness and velvety tannins. The northern and eastern areas of Mendoza produce a lighter style of wine.

San Juan

San Juan is Argentina's second most important wine producing province. It is located just above Mendoza, with vineyards at 450 to 1400 metres above sea level. The region is known for premium Syrah as well as Malbec, Bonarda, Cabernet Sauvignon and the white varieties Torrontes and Chardonnay.

Uco Valley

The Uco Valley is a region which lies to the south-west and within the Mendoza province. The vineyards lie at 900-1500 metres above sea level, the highest altitude in Mendoza. The cool nights and altitude create fresh and full-bodied wines with pure fruit, floral and savoury flavours. Malbec is dominant although there is plenty of Torrontes and international varieties.

Salta

Salta is the most northerly province in Argentina and has some of the highest altitude vineyards. It has the important sub-region of Cafayate which produces premium wine from Torrontes and Chardonnay, as well as Malbec.

Patagonia

Patagonia is home to not only Argentina's most southerly vineyards but some of the most southerly vineyards in the world. Here it is less about altitude and more the southerly latitude which allows quality grapes to be grown. The conditions here are extreme, with windy desert like conditions. White aromatic grapes are grown as well as Pinot Noir.

ZUCCARDI

Alberto 'Tito' Zuccardi began experimenting with new irrigation systems in the 1940s because, back then as today, water was scarce. In 1963 he planted a vineyard in the Maipú region to show neighbouring farmers how his irrigation system worked, not realising that this would be the beginning of three generations of passion for the Zuccardi family.

Today, his grandson, Sebastián, continues the family's mission to make wines which express their origin, the essence of their soils, while working with nature to minimise their impact on the environment. Continuing to grow and develop, Zuccardi has become a leader in Argentine wine production.

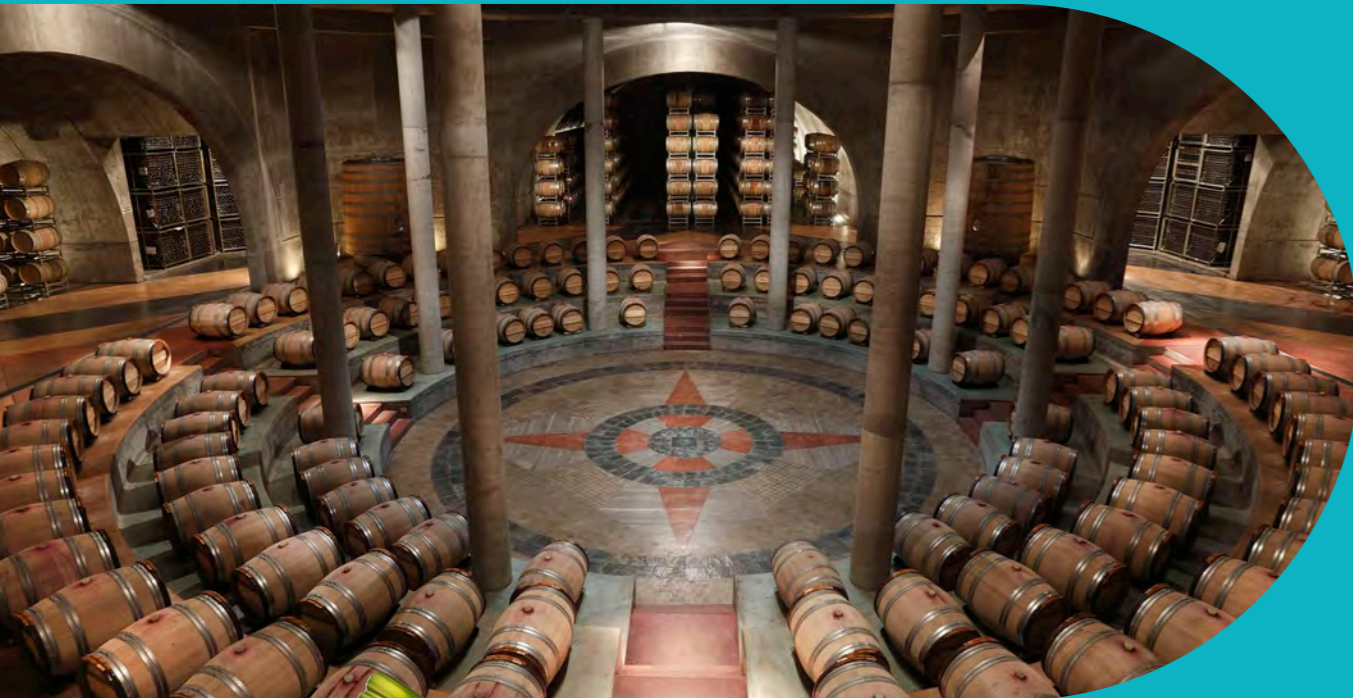

SALENTEIN

Bodegas Salentein embodies the essence of Argentina's Uco Valley, captivating wine enthusiasts worldwide. In 2023, Salentein was recognised as No.9 in the rankings of the World's Best Vineyards for 2023.

The winery boasts 2,100 hectares, including 1,000 hectares of vineyards across El Oasis, Los Arboles, La Pampa, San Pablo, and El Tomillo. Situated at elevations ranging from 1,050 to 1,700 meters above sea level, the vineyards feature diverse soils and microclimates, contributing to the distinct character of their wines.

With an elegant and expressive approach, Bodegas Salentein crafts mountain wines that beautifully capture the enchantment of the Uco Valley, establishing a new standard for quality in this extraordinary wine-producing region.

Australia

Australia's expansive landmass, 32 times larger than the UK, fosters diverse climates and landscapes. As a result, Australia produces almost every type of wine style.

From dry still to botrytised dessert wines, the country showcases versatility with experimentation in techniques and grape varieties. Australian wines are globally recognised for their pronounced fruit character that are a result of abundant sunshine during the growing season. The industry's progressive spirit is evident in ongoing research, embracing everything from pet nat styles to Italian grape varieties. This dynamic approach has propelled Australia to a prominent position in the world of wine.

Australia

Margaret River

Located in Western Australia, the Margaret River region lies south of the capital Perth and is moderated by the Indian Ocean. It is renowned for producing some of Australia's finest Cabernet Sauvignons, and Bordeaux blends. These are fruit dominated with savoury toasty oak complexity. The region also produces premium Chardonnay with savoury complexity, ripe fruit, and mouthwatering freshness.

Yarra Valley

The Yarra Valley is situated northeast of Melbourne in the state of Victoria and has a cooler climate due to the influence from the Southern Ocean. This allows the production of sparkling wines made from Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. Still wines made in this region are also produced using Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

Barossa Valley

Barossa Valley is the most famous premium wine producing region in Australia and the most productive. It is famous for having some of the oldest productive vineyards in the world, thanks to the region remaining largely untouched by phylloxera to date. This, alongside a warm, dry climate has produced a reputation for premium full-bodied, concentrated Shiraz, Grenache and Cabernet Sauvignon.

Coonawarra

Located on the border of South Australia and Victoria, Coonawarra is renowned for its distinctive Terra Rossa soil, which is rich, red, and composed of clay and limestone. This unique soil, along with the region's cool climate, is known to produce exceptional Cabernet Sauvignon wines. The Terra Rossa soil contributes to the grapevines' well-drained and nutrient-rich environment, enhancing the flavours and characteristics of the grapes grown in this region.

Adelaide Hills

Approximately 35 kms from Adelaide, Adelaide Hills has a slightly cooler climate due to the altitude, with vines planted 450m-500m above sea level. These cooler climates allow the production of refreshing Sauvignon Blanc, mouthwatering Chardonnays, and lighter styles of red wines include Pinot Noir. The area is also known for its sparkling wines made from Chardonnay and Pinot Noir.

ST HALLETT

Established in 1944 by the Lindner family, St Hallett has grown to become one of Australia's most respected wine brands, renowned as Masters of Barossa Shiraz.

From the beginning, the team at St Hallett understood the importance of saving old vines and focusing on varieties that thrive in the Barossa region, especially Shiraz. With a deep understanding of the rich tapestry of vineyard sites and climates throughout the Barossa and Eden Valley, St Hallett continues the legacy of crafting exceptional wines that showcase the geological, geographical and climatic diversity of the region.

Long-term collaborations with passionate growers give St Hallett access to some of the Barossa's most prized vineyards, working closely with them to source vines with suitable characteristics. The team believes interesting, single sites make interesting, unique wines.

The meticulous separation of parcels allows their winemakers to consistently create high-quality wines, each showcasing the distinct flavour profiles of different Barossa regions. Tailoring fermentation and maturation to individual parcels, the St Hallett winemaking team unveils Barossa wines with rich textures, depth, and diversity.

ANGUS THE BULL

When it comes to winemaking, Angus The Bull's philosophy is to make the absolute, hands-down perfect accompaniment for a prime piece of beef.

Each year the team works closely with their growers, hand selecting premium parcels of Cabernet Sauvignon cultivated on outstanding sites across Central Victoria.

This multi-vineyard approach allows them to deliver their signature style. The resulting wine is intense in colour with bright purple hues, with aromas of ripe black fruits, rich dark chocolate and subtle vanilla in oak. And the full-bodied palate is characterised by firm tannins with a savoury, masculine finish.

Led by creator and head winemaker, Hamish MacGowan, their mission is to create the best possible wine for that satisfying moment when Angus The Bull meets red meat.

Chile

Chile boasts a range of climates that significantly influence its wine production. Its wines are defined by a consistently warm and sunny climate, with a cooling influence from the Pacific Ocean and its vineyards remain unaffected by phylloxera, an insect harmful to vines.

Grapes that dominate are French influenced, with Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Carmenere taking the lead. These red varieties produce wines of distinction. Additionally, Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc are popular white grape varieties, creating refreshing and flavourful white wines. Chile's unique combination of climate and grape varieties has established it as a prominent player in the global wine scene.

Chile

Aconcagua Valley

The Aconcagua Valley lies in the Aconcagua region and, despite having some of the warmest temperatures in Chile, benefits from cooling influences from the Pacific Ocean and the Andes Mountains. It is dominated by red grape varieties such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Carmenere and Syrah.

Colchagua Valley

Colchagua Valley is part of the Central Valley region and has a varied climate depending upon exposure to the ocean breeze. Most of the valley has a warm climate, making it perfect for red grapes such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Carmenere and Syrah. These wines are full bodied with pronounced black fruit flavour.

Itata

The South of Chile is cooler and wetter due to the southerly latitude. Traditionally it has grown Muscat Of Alexandria and Pais, although there are many producers experimenting with international varieties such as Cabernet Sauvignon.

Leyda Valley

Leyda Valley is a smaller part of the San Antonio Valley, that lies between coastal mountains and benefits from cooling morning fogs and ocean breezes. This cool climate allows Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay to be grown with refreshing acidity and elegant ripe fruit. Pinot Noir is the most planted red grape and produces wine with bright red fruit.

Curico Valley

The Curico Valley is located in the central region of Chile. It has a warm dry climate that allows for reliable ripening of black grapes which produce intensely fruit-driven wines with a full body and soft mouthfeel. The wines from this region are known for being good value for money.

Rapel

Rapel is a large sub-region of the Central Valley which contains the Cachapoal and Colchagua Valleys. It has a reliably warm climate, although this can vary depending on exposure to coastal influence. It produces almost 25% of all Chilean wine.

Casablanca Valley

Casablanca Valley is in the Aconcagua region and lies next to the San Antonio Valley. In terms of climate this region is similar to the Aconcagua Valley, benefitting from cooling morning fogs and ocean breezes. Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay and Pinot Noir dominate here.

Maipo Valley

Maipo is the most well-known of all Chilean wine regions. It has a consistent warm climate that produces premium ripe Cabernet Sauvignons. The best vineyards are located in the Andean foothills where they benefit from cool air, which slows down grape ripening and creates freshness in the wines.

Limari

Limari is in the northern Coquimbo region. It has a cooler climate with influence both from ocean breezes and the Andes Mountains. The wines also benefit from intense sunshine creating ripe fruit with mouthwatering freshness. Here, Chardonnay and Syrah are the dominant grape varieties.

SANTA RITA

Established in 1880 and based just outside Santiago in Alto Maipo, Santa Rita is one of Chile's oldest and most respected wineries. It has a unique cultural and historical heritage and was awarded National Monument status for its cellars and parkland in 1972.

Santa Rita owns nearly 4000 hectares across the country's major valleys and grows over 30 different varieties. Its flagship brand, '120' is the bestselling Chilean wine brand globally. Santa Rita produces a huge array of wines from entry level right up to their fine wines, with Triple C portraying the best of Chile with a blend of Carmenere, Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc.

Sustainability is at the top of the agenda in every part of the wine-making process, from vineyards to supply chain, production innovation and the natural environment. Santa Rita is continually looking to improve its efficiency and sustainability across the business, from aerothermal and geothermal temperature control and wastewater management to the production of their own compost from waste plant material.

ERRAZURIZ

The story of Errazuriz began in 1870 when founder, Don Maximiano Errazuriz, recognised the amazing potential of the Aconcagua Valley with its cool, rainy winters, hot dry summers and moist Pacific Ocean breezes.

While most Chilean vineyards were still being planted close to the Chilean capital of Santiago, Don Maximiano Errazuriz looked further north. After riding 62 miles on horseback over two days, he discovered the Aconcagua Valley. Right there and then, he declared that "from the best land, the best wine" would be obtained.

More than 150 years later, the tradition of quality lives on with his descendant and current owner of Viña Errazuriz, Eduardo Chadwick. Today, the sixth generation continues to carry on the family legacy with a strong vision of the future focused on sustainable development and the conviction that this is the way to maintain Viña Errazuriz's position as a global benchmark for quality and image.

Committed to the terroir of their vineyards, their wines focus on the depth and complexity of their grape varieties. Don Maximiano Founder's Reserve, with its 2018 vintage being awarded 97 points by Tim Atkin, is an outstanding Bordeaux-inspired wine packed full of ripe fruit and fine-grained tannins for a beautifully fruit-driven and complex expression.

England

English wine has witnessed a surge in popularity over recent years and today is particularly renowned for its elegant sparkling varieties. The cool climate, chalky soils, and improved viticulture practices contribute to the production of high-quality wines.

The region predominantly cultivates traditional Champagne grapes like Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Pinot Meunier, resulting in exceptional sparkling wines. Bacchus is also cultivated to produce still wines, showcasing the versatility of English viticulture. Despite its relatively small scale, the English wine industry has garnered international acclaim. Ongoing developments and a growing reputation for both sparkling and still wines underscore the region's promising future in the global wine landscape.

England

Cornwall

At the tip of southwest England, Cornwall boasts a small number of wineries, with a cool climate that is predominantly maritime and greatly influenced by the Atlantic Ocean. The first vineyards in Cornwall were planted in 1978, and today the grapes grown here include Bacchus, Chardonnay and Pinot Noir.

Kent

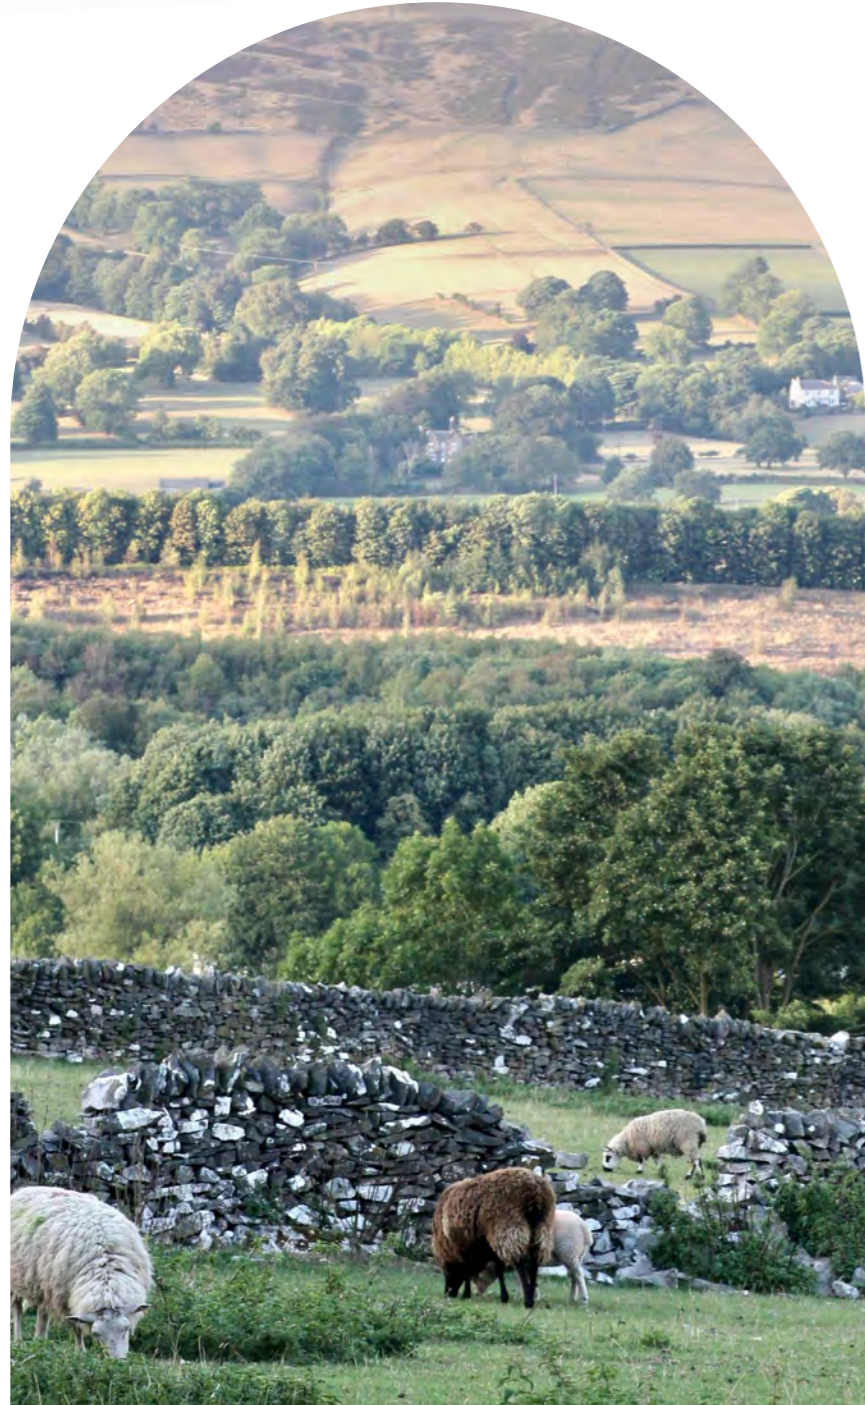

Famously known as the 'Garden of England', Kent's south-facing slopes, chalk soils and maritime climate provide the ideal conditions for grape growing. Today, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Bacchus, and Ortega represent many of the vineyard plantings in this region. The resulting wines have a pronounced mineral nose, showing aromas of apples, pears, and elderflower with refreshing acidity.

Surrey

Located between Kent and Hampshire, Surrey is a winemaking region with chalky soils that are similar to those found in France's Champagne region. It gets plenty of sunshine and is relatively sheltered, making it perfect for growing cool-climate grapes. The grapes grown here include Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier, Chardonnay and Pinot Gris.

Sussex

Sussex is comprised of two counties, West Sussex and East Sussex. Located in the southeastern corner of England, it is one of the sunniest regions in the UK. Limestone chalk soils dominate in this region and its cool climate contributes to the production of quality grapes for sparkling wine. Grapes planted here include Bacchus, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier.

BALFOUR

At the cutting edge of English Wine, you'll find Balfour Winery - one of the country's largest and most innovative producers. Balfour have over 20 years experience producing award-winning English wines, and currently produce over 500,000 bottles a year, and welcome over 15,000 visitors annually to their beautiful vineyard on the Hust Heath Estate in Kent.

They were the first English producer to win a trophy at the International Wine Challenge, the first wine to be served in British Airways first class, and today can be found in Michelin-star restaurants and exported internationally.

But what makes them truly unique is the passion and innovation at Balfour's core. Whether that's in winemaking - led by the renowned father and son duo Fergus and Owen Elias - in sustainability or in hospitality. As a founding member of Sustainable Wines of GB, their home is a biodiversity haven: with wildflower meadows, ancient woodlands and orchards. In their vineyards you'll find exciting varieties all-but-unique to the UK.

Their 'small batch' winemaking philosophy means each wine is meticulously created from hand-picked parcels. It's that combination of quality, sustainability and innovation which makes Balfour truly unique.

France

France is one of the world's leading wine producers, with many of the world's illustrious fine wines coming from Bordeaux and Burgundy.

The French culture seamlessly intertwines wine and each region boasts unique grape varieties, winemaking traditions, and perfect food pairings.

France persists as an enduring source of inspiration and a benchmark for winemaking worldwide. Its rich viticultural heritage and commitment to excellence continue to influence and shape the global wine industry, making French wines a timeless reference for quality and craftsmanship.

- 77 Bordeaux
- 82 Burgundy
- 88 Loire Valley
- 92 Provence
- 96 Rhône Valley
- 100 Southern France

Burgundy

Burgundy is located to the east of France and produces some of the greatest Chardonnays and Pinot Noirs in the world. The slopes of the rolling hills provide the fruit with the best chance of ripening and vineyards in the many villages of Burgundy are often considered to be of the highest quality. Burgundy Chardonnay often expresses ripe green and stone fruit with nutty complexity and integrated oak flavours. The Pinot Noir usually shows ripe red berry, mushroom, and subtle oak flavour.

Rhône Valley

The Rhône Valley, in southeast France along the Rhône River, is divided into northern and southern regions. The northern Rhône exclusively cultivates Syrah in premium appellations like Côte-Rôtie, Hermitage, Crozes-Hermitage, and Cornas. The warmer climate of the Southern Rhône results in larger wine quantities, dominated by Grenache. The region boasts a vast array of styles, ranging from approachable Côtes du Rhône to full-bodied, prestigious Châteauneuf-du-Pape wines.

Bordeaux

On France's west coast, Bordeaux is the country's largest wine producing region, with historic ties to English vintners and traders. The wines are usually defined by whether they are grown on the left or right side of the Gironde River that divides the region. The gravel soils on the left bank are essential for ripening Cabernet Sauvignon, whilst the clay soils that dominate the right side are perfect for Merlot.

Alsace

Alsace is located on the eastern side of France, bordering Germany. The wines are characterised by the Vosges Mountains that shield vineyards from rain and wind, facilitating an extended ripening period for the grapes. White aromatic varieties thrive here, and the styles vary. Dry and medium to full-bodied Rieslings are prominent, while Gewürztraminer, Pinot Gris, and Muscat span the spectrum from off dry to sweet.

Loire Valley

The Loire Valley follows the 300km-long Loire River. With a cool climate throughout the region, conditions vary depending on the exposure to the Atlantic Ocean. As a result, there are many different styles produced in the Loire Valley. Textural Muscadet, sparkling varieties, and both dry and sweet expressions of Chenin Blanc can be found in Vouvray. Chinon is famed for producing bright red fruit wines from Cabernet Franc. Some of the most well-known styles produced are the Sauvignon Blanc wines grown in Pouilly-Fumé and Sancerre.

Provence

Provence, located in the far southeast of France, is one of the oldest wine-producing regions globally. The region benefits from a Mediterranean climate, crucial for ripening grape varieties like Grenache, Carignan, Cinsault, and Mourvèdre. These grapes contribute to the creation of its iconic pale pink rosé wines, known for their citrus notes, delicate red fruit flavours, and mouthwatering freshness. The region also produces red and white wines, with reds often featuring blends of Grenache, Syrah, Mourvèdre, and Cinsault, while whites showcase Rolle (Vermentino) and other varietals.

LOUIS JADOT

Louis Jadot was established in Beaune by Louis Henri Denis Jadot in 1859. They have carefully striven to establish and maintain the quality of their wines for 160 years through the steady acquisition of the best vineyards in Burgundy.

Over a century and a half later, they now produce wines from over 150 appellations – from Beaujolais-Villages to Le Montrachet. Their goal is the perfect expression of terroir and both their viticultural philosophy and approach to winemaking is one of minimal intervention.

ULTIMATE PROVENCE

Despite having over two centuries of winemaking history under their belt, Ultimate Provence are pioneers when it comes to innovation, creativity, and a modern approach.

This is a producer with rosé wine in its DNA. Quality winemaking, sustainability and playful energy combine to bring out excellence in every aspect of the brand. With bright, vibrant flavours of fresh citrus, exotic fruits, delicate florals, and a touch of white pepper spice, every bottle of rosé is an invitation to experience the ultimate in Provence living.

ESTANDON

Estandon wines are perfect for all drinking occasions. They express the diversity of the Provençal terroirs and reflect the team's collective commitment to people, nature and the local area.

Their vines grow mainly on limestone or clay-limestone soils, bathed in the Mediterranean sun and swept by the famous Mistral wind. Cinsault, Grenache, Syrah and Rolle are the most commonly grown grapes in the vineyards.

Rhône Valley

OGIER

Founded in 1859, Maison Ogier is located in Châteauneuf-du-Pape, at the heart of some of the most prestigious appellations. Thanks to more than 25 years of partnerships with winegrowers, Ogier can select the finest vintages from the north to the south of the Rhône Valley.

To better understand the subtle variations of the terroirs of the AOC, Ogier studied the four different soil types of the appellation (clay soils, pebbles soils, limestone soils and sandy soils) and adapted its vinification and maturation methods to these.

Italy

Italy is home to 500 native grape varieties grown across 20 Italian wine regions, found from north to south of the country. Each has its own diverse landscape and climate that helps create some of the most famous wine styles in the world.

The country is renowned for its light and refreshing white wines, as well as bold and powerful reds. In recent years, Italy has also gained recognition for its sparkling wines, showcasing the nation's versatility and expertise in winemaking across a broad spectrum of styles and flavours.

Toscana

The wines of Tuscany, predominantly from the Chianti region, showcase the red grape Sangiovese. The Chianti region sits in the hills between Florence and Siena, influenced by altitude that sees the grapes ripen slowly while maintaining their freshness. Wines labelled as "Classico" originate from the historic heart of the Chianti region. Often, these wines are labelled "Riserva," indicating that they have undergone some aging before release.

Piemonte

A prestigious wine region in the north East of the country, sandwiched between the Alps to the north and the Ligurian coast to the south. A diverse range of wine is produced here, from the Cortese whites in Gavi to the mild sparkling Barbera D'ASTi. However, the King of grapes in the region is Nebbiolo which produces full bodied red wines with robust tannins. Barolo DOCG is of particular note.

Abruzzo

Abruzzo is on the east coast of Central Italy, bordering the Adriatic. It is most noted for its reds made from Montepulciano, but also its light whites made from Trebbiano and Pecorino.

Veneto

Veneto is known for producing a wide range of styles of wine. From dry whites, including the popular Pinot Grigio, to both dry and sweet wines crafted from Garganega in Soave, and rich, bold reds originating from Valpolicella. Veneto is also renowned for its production of the famous sparkling wine, Prosecco.

Friuli-Venezia Giulia

The most north-eastern region in Italy, bordering Slovenia and Austria, Friuli-Venezia Giulia is noted for its fresh white wine such as Pinot Grigio, Sauvignon Blanc & Friulano. Reds made from Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon can also be found here.

Campania

Campania, situated near the lively Naples region and the stunning Amalfi Coast, is a region in Italy that produces both white and red wines. Fiano, a prominent white grape, is known for creating expressive and high-quality white wines. For reds, Aglianico stands out, producing robust and noteworthy red wines in the region.

Umbria & Lazio

The regions of Umbria and Lazio are separated by Rome in the centre of Italy. Both have reputations for creating excellent white wines. The land-locked region of Umbria has a distinct highland climate and is cooler and damper than Tuscany to the north. In Lazio, to the south of Rome, the white wines here are light, crisp, and dry and are designed to be consumed young. Notably, the Orvieto DOC in Umbria produces a distinguished wine from the Trebbiano grape.

Sicilia & Puglia

Sicilia is known for its native variety of Nero d'Avola, often compared to Pinot Noir. The volcanic landscape heavily influences the wines, both red and white, particularly in the Etna DOC. Puglia, found in 'the heel' of Italy, is famed for its Primitivo. Warm summers provide consistent ripening and good value wines.

Trentino-Alto Adige

Trentino - Alto Adige sits to the north of Italy, bordering Switzerland and Austria. The Alps have a significant influence on the area and are ideal for producing fresh whites made from Pinot Grigio and light reds from Pinot Noir.

ENRICO SERAFINO

Enrico Serafino is an artisan winery that has produced wines with a family soul since 1878. The estates uncompromising dedication has been informed by the experience of over 140 harvests.

Their historical library of 80 vintages of Barolo is proof of this acquired knowledge over the decades, with the aim of creating a true legacy for future generations.

A respectful, sustainable approach to farming and careful execution during the winemaking process allows Enrico Serafino to offer wines that are true to their territory. Enrico Serafino achieved VIVA Certification that assesses the sustainability performances of all company activities. VIVA indicators assess the impact of every action in the entire production process with regard to environmental protection, social progress and economic development.

RUFFINO

Ruffino was founded in the heart of Tuscany in 1877 by cousins Ilario and Leopoldo Ruffino, who dreamed of bringing the “ideal wine” to tables around the world. For more than 140 years, Ruffino has been devoted to this dream, producing elegant, time-honoured wines that set the standard for Tuscan fine wine.

With its 6 estates, today Ruffino produces world famous wines such as Riserva Ducale, Modus and Riserva Ducale Oro. By 2025, all Ruffino’s production supply chain will be sustainably certified, and all the estates will be completely organically managed.

FANTINEL

Fantinel, a three-generation family of winegrowers, have been producing excellence since 1969 in the Friuli Venezia Giulia region in north-east Italy.

Passion and tradition are the driving force behind Fantinel's winemaking. Accompanied by a quality-oriented production philosophy and territory-enhancement attitude, the estate has grown to become an internationally prestigious winery and ambassador of the historical Friulian winemaking art in the world.

CORTE CAMARI

The vineyard of Corte Camari lies in the commune of Camporeale, in the province of Palermo, Northern-Western Sicily.

Here, native grapes Grillo and Nero d'Avola are grown alongside international varieties, Chardonnay and Syrah. The vines are organically farmed, and the local biodiversity is enhanced to preserve the authenticity of the terroir. Corte Camari's philosophy is based on respecting the land and improving traditional wine-making techniques.

The mountains that surround the valley influence the temperature during the day and allow the grapes to develop elegant and intense aromas, maintaining balanced acidity, with the winds that cross the island essential to maintaining healthy clusters of grapes.

New Zealand

Despite its relatively short history in wine production, New Zealand has rapidly become a globally significant player.

The country's ideal climate, coupled with innovative winemaking practices, has propelled its wines to international acclaim, with Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Noir standing out as notable varietals. New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc is particularly renowned for its vibrant and distinctive character.

New Zealand's rise to prominence showcases how a combination of favourable natural conditions and a pioneering spirit can lead to a remarkable impact on the global wine stage.

New Zealand

Hawke's Bay

Hawke's Bay, situated on the east coast of the North Island, is considered the warmest grape-growing region in New Zealand. Its favourable climate makes it well-suited for producing good quality red varieties of Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Malbec. The region's Chardonnays are also well regarded.

Gisborne

Gisborne is found in the northeast of the North Island. Grapes from here are usually the first ones to be harvested in New Zealand. It enjoys an ideal grape-growing climate, characterised by long days of sunshine, warm inland weather, and a mild ocean climate from the Pacific Ocean. The region's primary grape varieties include Sauvignon Blanc, Chardonnay, Pinot Gris, Merlot, and Malbec, with Albariño recently introduced too.

Martinborough

Martinborough is in the southern part of the North Island within the Wairarapa region and stands as one of the more historic wine regions in New Zealand. The area is particularly acclaimed for its Sauvignon Blanc, known for its distinctive character, and its production of elegant Pinot Noir wines.

Central Otago

Central Otago, found at the southern end of the South Island, is celebrated not only for its stunning landscape but also for its notable wine production. Pinot Noir takes centre stage in this region, making up 70% of plantings which go on to produce rich, full-bodied wines. Alongside Pinot Noir, Central Otago also features significant plantings of Sauvignon Blanc and Pinot Gris.

Marlborough

Marlborough sits in the northern part of the South Island, bordered by the Pacific Ocean to the east and towering mountain ranges to the north and south. It is particularly renowned for its aromatic and zesty white wines made from the Sauvignon Blanc grape. It also produces excellent Pinot Gris, Chardonnay, Riesling and Pinot Noir.

YEALANDS

A wild and rugged stretch of coastline on the north-eastern tip of New Zealand's South Island is where you'll find Yealands Estate, one of the world's most sustainable wineries.

Proudly Kiwi-owned, Yealands Wines launched in 2008 with the ambition of becoming a world leader in sustainable wine production. Forward-thinking, Yealands became the first winery in the world to be 'Toitū carbonzero' certified since day one.

Yealands wines are inspired by the coast that surrounds them - so close to the ocean that the vines are often misted with sea spray. The beauty of this environment influences how the team craft wine, staying respectful of nature and the land. Their winemaking philosophy is to let the wines express their sense of place with minimal intervention and thoughtful winemaking that adapts to the natural balance of the fruit received each harvest.

Sustainability is at the heart of Yealands winemaking, from the careful management of their vines and land, to the way they sustainably operate their winery, and craft their wines.

FOLEY

Foley Wines is a collection of iconic wineries and brands from New Zealand's most acclaimed wine regions. Each with a unique story of New Zealand to tell, their wineries are linked by a common purpose: to make great wine that people love to drink around the world – made by land & hand.

TE KAIRANGA

Planted in 1984 on land originally farmed by Martinborough's founding father, John Martin, Te Kairanga is central to the Martinborough wine story. Like all the exceptional wines from this small wine region, it is located on the windy but free-draining and sustainable Martinborough Terrace.

Te Kairanga specialises in Pinot Noir and each small vineyard block has a specific rootstock and clone to suit its microclimate, including some legendary 40-year-old Gum Boot clone. Each clone is harvested and vinified separately, using Burgundian methods, before being aged in its own selected French barrel.

VAVASOUR

Vavasour is the founding winery of Marlborough's smaller, cooler Awatere Valley. The small, thick-skinned grapes in the Awatere now make some of the finest wines in Marlborough, as shown in the Decanter World Wine Awards, where Vavasour Sauvignon Blanc has won the Global Platinum Trophy for Sauvignon Blanc twice.

The winemaking captures the extremes and nuances of the Awatere. More than one hundred parcels are picked, crushed and vinified as individuals, giving the team a palette of diverse expressions of Awatere terroir to blend.

DASHWOOD

Dashwood is unique to the on-trade in the UK. It is made at Vavasour Winery with fruit that is carefully selected from both the Awatere Valley and the Wairau Valley from an award-winning sister winery – the best of both valleys. The Awatere fruit gives texture and intensity, while the warmer Wairau valley gives generous fruit.

The winemaking team focuses on producing wines in a crisp, fruit-forward style and their vineyards are farmed using 100% sustainable methods to best preserve each varietal's unique characteristics.

Portugal

Portugal, celebrated for its historic fortified wines in the Douro Valley, is increasingly gaining acclaim for its dry reds, whites, and rosés.

Native grape varieties play a central role across the country's fourteen wine regions and thirty-one DOCs (Denominação de Origem Controlada). Portugal's diverse latitudes further contribute to the richness and variety of its wines. This diversity, coupled with a renewed focus on dry styles, showcases Portugal's versatility and evolving reputation as a producer of not only traditional fortified wines but also a wide range of high-quality, terroir-driven still wines.

Portugal

Alentejo

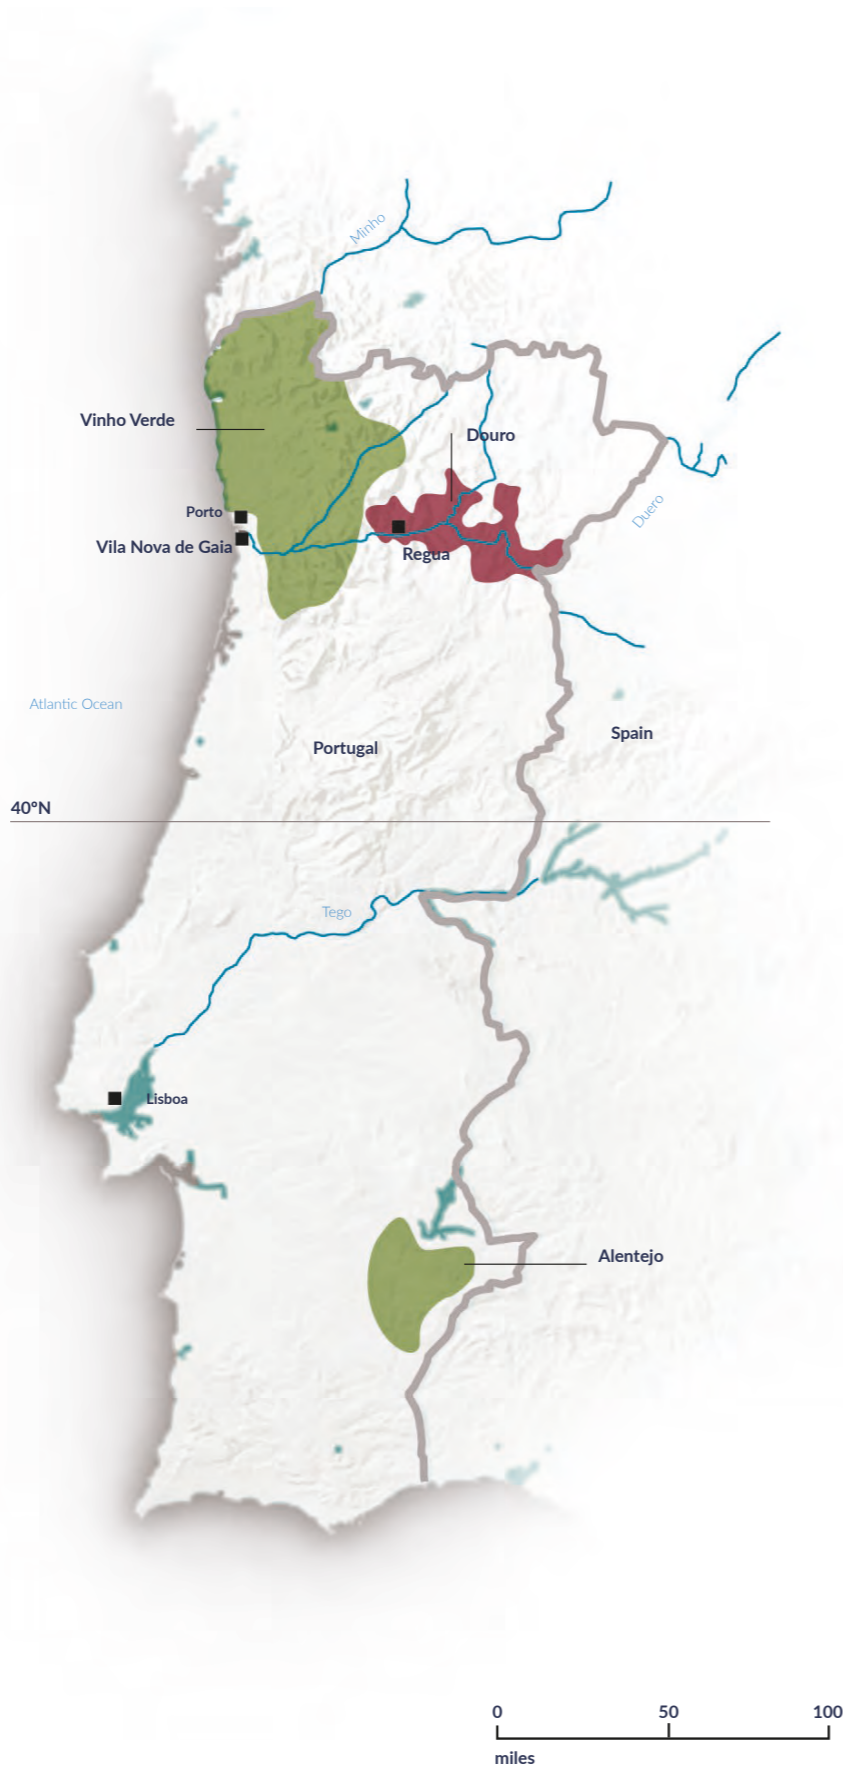

Located in Portugal's south-central and southern area, the great region of Alentejo has the river Tagus to the north and borders the Algarve region to the south. This diverse region has many soil types, with a hot, arid climate that has low rainfall. There are many progressive wineries here making red wines full of generous fruit flavours with refined tannins. White wines from Alentejo range from medium-bodied refreshers to more full-bodied whites.

Douro

One of the most beautiful wine regions in the world, the Douro Valley is most famed for its production of Port wine. Over the last few decades, however, the region has become known for producing exceptional still wines, from full-flavoured reds to refreshing, dry whites. Wine grapes are the same as those that go into Port, and the wines tend to be high in tannins and flavour while remaining fruity and fresh.

Vinho Verde

A small region in Northern Portugal is home to the light, traditionally delicate and spritzy Vinho Verde. The Minho faces the Atlantic to the west and is known for being one of the wettest and most fertile locations for vine growth. As a result, grapes ripen with moderate sugar levels, revealing wines with crisp acidity, lively fruit flavours and a relatively low alcohol content.

QUINTA DAS ARCAS

Quinta das Arcas, a family company rooted in a rich winemaking heritage spanning several generations, was established over 40 years ago in Portugal's Vinho Verde region. The winery has become a major player in the region, boasting over 200 hectares of vineyards and earning recognition as one of the largest growers in the Vinho Verde D.O.C.

The philosophy of the company has always been to produce high quality wines with the lowest intervention possible. Quinta das Arcas has been a pioneer in sustainable agricultural practices for over 30 years, prioritising investments in their vineyards to ensure the finest fruit quality.

The wines produced here authentically express the influence of their terroir. With the geological area dominated by schist and slate, and the vineyards sitting just 20km from the Atlantic Ocean, the Vinho Verde crafted here has exceptional ripeness, structure, and minerality.

ESPORÃO

Founded in 1973, Esporão's philosophy is to make the finest wines from what nature provides, in a responsible and inspiring way.

Esporão originated in Alentejo from a desire to make the finest products at nature's pace, with minimal impact on the environment. Organic farming contributes to this and produces wines with greater identity, sense of place and without products that are harmful to our health and our planet.

They are one of the leading wine companies in Portugal and one of the largest organic wine producers in the world. The team at Esporão are strong believers in biodiversity, with all their vineyards surrounded by wild land that supports their organic farming and encourages nature and wildlife to thrive.

ROBERT WEIL

GERMANY

Founded in 1875, Weingut Robert Weil is today run by Wilhem Weil, fourth-generation winemaker of the founding family. Wilhem's work over the past 30 years has helped to raise the international profile of German Riesling - the estates 222 acres of vineyards are planted with 100% Riesling.

Minerality, elegance, power, and a balanced acidity, perfectly describe the cool-climate character of the Robert Weil Riesling. Numerous observers of the international wine world regard Weingut Robert Weil, with its "château character", as a worldwide flagship and symbol of German Riesling culture.

LAURENZ V

AUSTRIA

Laurenz V, a boutique winery in Austria's Kamptal Valley, is famed for crafting an elegant and captivating style of Grüner Veltliner. Known for brisk acidity, subtle spice, and vibrant minerality, these wines are vinified for international appeal.

The winery grows its own grapes in Kamptal and sources from trusted growers in Kamptal and Kremstal, where Grüner Veltliner reaches optimal ripeness. Focused solely on Grüner Veltliner, Laurenz V aims to play a leading role in establishing Austria's signature grape amongst the premium white wines of the world.

South Africa

Often dubbed the 'Old' New World, South Africa boasts a rich winemaking history. Situated at a relatively low latitude, the country enjoys a consistently warm climate that's beneficial for grape growing.

With low disease pressure, coastal breezes, and innovative winemaking, South Africa has the capability to produce a broad spectrum of wine styles. From dry to sweet, sparkling to fortified, the country's diverse terroirs and favourable growing conditions contribute to its ability to craft wines with a unique and wide-ranging character. South Africa's winemaking landscape reflects a harmonious blend of tradition and innovation, making it a noteworthy player in the global wine scene.

South Africa

Western Cape

The Western Cape is the largest geographical unit in South Africa and is split into regions, districts, and wards. It allows for flexibility in production, with many of the popular international grape varieties produced both in varietal and blends, and the region is known for its ability to produce wines of varying quality levels.

Stellenbosch

Stellenbosch, nestled within the Coastal Region of South Africa, has garnered a reputation for producing fine wine. Its Bordeaux blends, where Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot play leading roles, showcase the region's expertise in crafting rich and complex red wines. Stellenbosch is also recognised for producing high-quality Chenin Blanc and Chardonnay.

Swartland

Situated north of Cape Town, Swartland is the most easterly district in the Coastal Region. Known for its innovative approach to winemaking, the region has gained recognition for producing a diverse range of premium varietals. Notably, Swartland is celebrated for wines crafted from Grenache, Chenin Blanc, and Shiraz grapes.

Coastal Region

The Coastal Region of South Africa, situated along the coastline of the Western Cape, plays a pivotal role in the country's wine production. Covering half of the vineyard area in South Africa, this region includes districts such as Stellenbosch, Paarl, and Constantia. Chenin Blanc and Chardonnay lead the white grape plantings, while Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot lead the way for red varieties.

Paarl

Paarl, found within the Coastal Region, sits to the north and further inland than Stellenbosch. Its diurnal temperature range plays a crucial role in grape ripening, with warmer days and cooler nights leading to the grapes achieving complex flavours and balanced acidity. Paarl has earned international acclaim for its production of top-quality wines, particularly with its Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Pinotage. The region also showcases refined expressions of Chenin Blanc and Chardonnay.

Durbanville

Durbanville is in the Tygerberg district on the outskirts of Cape Town. It is recognised as one of the country's coolest wine regions due to its hilly terrain and proximity to the coast. Durbanville is known for producing refreshing white wines, particularly those crafted from Sauvignon Blanc, Chenin Blanc, and Chardonnay. The cool climate and unique terroir of this region contribute to the vibrant acidity and distinct flavour profiles found in the white wines produced here.

Elim

The Elim ward is found at the most southerly tip of South Africa, within the Cape Agulhas district. Its distinguishing feature is its cooler climate that is strongly influenced by its proximity to where the Atlantic and Indian oceans meet. This climatic characteristic makes it well-suited to producing refreshing Sauvignon Blanc that's packed with vibrant acidity and crisp and lively flavours.

KLEINE ZALZE STELLENBOSCH

The Kleine Zalze winery is situated in the heart of the Cape Winelands near Stellenbosch. Winemaking has taken place there on a small scale since 1695 but it was in 1996, when Kobus Basson and his family purchased the property, that the modern Kleine Zalze was born.

Their philosophy is simple: success begins in the vineyards. Exceptional wines are made possible by selecting varieties and clones specifically suited to the various soils and slopes, and further careful management of the farm's extensive natural assets.

This continuous attention to detail culminated in Kleine Zalze achieving new heights in 2020, being named Top Performing Winery of the Year by Platter's South African wine guide.

Located on a variety of slopes, soils and aspects, the vineyards that bear the fruit for the Kleine Zalze range of wines are exposed to fresh ocean breezes from the Atlantic coast, which lies a mere 15km away. This cool climate yields delicate flavours whilst at the same time providing optimal growing and ripening conditions for their fruit.

FLAGSTONE

WESTERN CAPE

Flagstone is an icon of innovation within the Accolade Wines' portfolio.

Without an inherited wine farm, the original founder of Flagstone started a wine brand that revolutionised the South African wine industry.

Forced to think outside the box, they challenged the status quo at every opportunity. Sourcing grapes from every far-flung and forgotten corner of the Western Cape, they uncovered some world-beating vineyard sites.

This hailed the winemaking team as pioneers, leaders, and mavericks in the industry. This philosophy has continued for more than 21 years, with the brand consistently producing high quality and award-winning wines.

AMANDLA

WESTERN CAPE

Amandla is a majority black-owned and 100% female-run company, described as a "celebration of the diverse history of Africa, the vibrancy of the black culture and the collective stories" of the team and experience behind the brand.

Amandla, which means 'power', comprises a Shiraz-Zinfandel, a Blush and a Sauvignon Blanc, featuring evocative images on the label, along with the words 'Power!', 'Freedom!' and 'Future!' respectively. In 2023, Matthew Clark and Amandla entered a new partnership, bringing the core range to the UK on-trade, as well 2 new additions: a Chenin Blanc and Pinotage/Malbec.

Spain

Spain is a vast and diverse winemaking nation, best known for its red wines from Rioja and Ribera del Duero, whilst Rias Baixas, is Spain's white wine capital, where the Albariño grape thrives along the Atlantic coast.

Spanish winemakers utilise both indigenous grape varieties, such as Tempranillo and Albariño, and international ones, like Cabernet Sauvignon and Chardonnay.

Labelling terms are crucial, particularly for red wines, offering insights into the aging process before release, such as Crianza, Reserva, and Gran Reserva. Spain's rich winemaking heritage and dedication to both traditional and modern approaches contribute to its enduring global reputation.

Rioja

Rioja is Spain's best known wine region. Situated in the north of the country, it sits along the Ebro River and adjacent to the Cantabrian Mountains which significantly influences the wines produced in the region. The flagship grape variety is Tempranillo, often used in blends to craft the world-famous reds of Rioja. The styles can vary, from young and vibrant wines labelled Joven, to Gran Reserva's which require significant ageing. Viura is the most planted grape variety in the Rioja region.

Rías Baixas/Galicia

Rías Baixas, situated in the far northwest of Spain in the Galicia region, is renowned for its Albariño wines. The grape growers in this region employ a Pergola system to train their vines. This method helps manage the vine canopy to minimise the impact of excessive moisture that comes from the high humidity and substantial rainfall that's characteristic of the area.

Catalunya

Catalunya, situated in the northeastern part of Spain around the famous city of Barcelona, boasts a diverse range of wines. From its traditional method sparkling wines, known as Cava, to premium reds, particularly those from the Priorat region. The wine portfolio of Catalunya is further enriched with significant quantities of whites and rosés produced here.

Castilla-La Mancha

La Mancha, situated in the heart of Spain to the south of Madrid, is a major wine-producing region that yields vast amounts of wines crafted from both indigenous and international grape varieties. One of Spain's largest wine-growing regions, its location contributes to consistent harvests, making it a reliable source for wine production. The combination of a favourable climate and a diverse array of grape varieties allows La Mancha to produce wines that cater to a wide range of preferences.

Ribera del Duero

Ribera del Duero derives its name from its location along the Duero River in the Meseta Central of Spain. This Denominación de Origen (DO) produces only red and rosé wines. The red wines from Ribera del Duero are particularly renowned for their notable extraction of fruit and tannins, showcasing a robust and bold character. The use of oak is also a distinctive feature of these wines, contributing to their complexity and depth.

Castilla y Leon

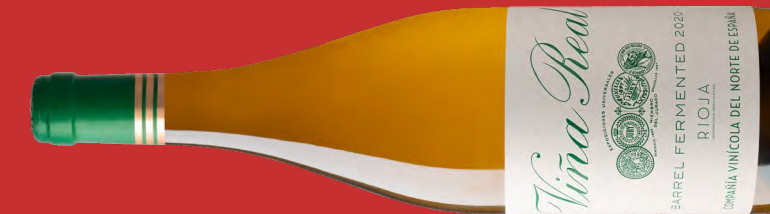

Castilla y León, a significant wine region in the northwest of Spain, is home to notable Denominaciones de Origen (DO) including Ribera del Duero, Toro, Rueda, and Bierzo. A diverse range of grapes are grown in the region, with Tempranillo, Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Merlot being widely planted for red wines. Viura and Verdejo are the most planted white grape varieties.

BODEGAS C.V.N.E

RIOJA

C.V.N.E (Compañía Vinícola del Norte de España) was founded back in 1879 and is still owned and run by the fifth generation of the Real de Asua family. There are now four wineries - CVNE, Imperial, Viña Real and Contino.

Over its 140-year history, C.V.N.E has continued to evolve, grow, and innovate in terms of both wines and production. Despite this, the winery continues to respect tradition, whilst looking to incorporate innovative wine-making processes, along with a commitment to environmentally sustainable viticulture.

PACO Y LOLA

RIAS BAIXAS/GALICIA

Paco & Lola is a young, modern winery known for its high quality Albariño's. In less than 10 years, this winery has become one of the most recognized Albariño producers in the world. Founded in 2005, Paco & Lola is the fruit of a group of independent winegrowers who wanted to take their production to a professional level.

More than 430 families from the Salnés Valley came together to create the largest cooperative belonging to the D.O. Rías Baixas. The result is 270 hectares of 100% Albariño vineyards spread across over 2000 plots of land, a distinctive product identity, and an outstanding winemaking philosophy.

BODEGAS CORRAL

RIOJA

Founded in 1898 by a local family, Bodegas Corral remains one of the few 'centennial' Rioja wineries still in family hands.

The village of Navarrete in the heart of the region sits on the ancient pilgrimage route, giving it a tangible sense of authenticity. Organic practices are followed in all their vineyards and the wines are made from 100% certified organic grapes under the 'Ecológica' label. Several programmes are in place to reduce their environmental impact.

The Don Jacobo range sits in the Bodegas Corral family, with a selection of wines that includes easy-drinking whites through to traditional Tempranillo wines from the infamous Rioja region.

USA

The USA holds the distinction of being the largest New World wine producer, with wineries spread across all fifty states. While predominantly specialising in international grape varieties, the diverse American Viticultural Areas (AVA) contribute to a broad range of wine production styles.

Renowned regions like California's Napa Valley and Sonoma County have garnered global acclaim, showcasing the nation's significant influence in the world of wine. The USA's vast and varied terroirs, coupled with a dynamic approach to winemaking, continue to solidify its position as a major player on the international wine stage.

USA

Napa Valley

Perhaps the most esteemed wine making region in the USA, Napa Valley is particularly noted for its Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Chardonnay. The wines from this region tend to be big and bold, with oak often being used. Napa Valley also produces medium-sweet White Zinfandel, a varietal that has become synonymous with the region.

Carneros

Carneros or (Los Carneros) is located within Sonoma County and is one of the oldest wine regions in California. It is particularly known for its premium Pinot Noir and Chardonnay, which is well suited to the cooler climate and morning fogs.

Oregon

Oregon sits above California and below Washington State. Shielded by the rain shadow of the Cascade Mountains, Oregon's climate is significantly influenced by Pacific breezes. This creates an ideal environment for growing grapes suited to cool climates, and the region is known for producing premium styles of Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

Central Valley/Lodi

The Central Valley produces the majority of California's wine, thanks to its stable climate and minimal disease challenges. Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Chardonnay are the dominant grape varieties grown in this region. Within the Central Valley, the Lodi American Viticultural Area (AVA) is noted for its Old Vine Zinfandel.

Santa Barbara County

Nestled in the southern reaches of the Central Coast, Santa Barbara is heavily influenced by its geographical features. The mountain ranges running from east to west promotes refreshing cool breezes, creating an optimal environment for the cultivation of cooler-climate styles such as Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

Finger Lakes

The Finger Lakes AVA is situated on the East Coast of the USA, within the state of New York. The lakes in this region play a crucial role in grape cultivation, as they store heat late into the growing season, influencing the local climate. Riesling, Gewürztraminer, and Cabernet Franc thrive in this environment, showcasing the region's suitability for a diverse range of grape varieties.

Sonoma

Situated on the West Coast adjacent to the Pacific Ocean and extending inland towards Napa Valley, Sonoma benefits from coastal breezes and is influenced by the Mayacama and Sonoma Mountain ranges. This prime location contributes to the production of premium wines, made from varietals such as Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Merlot.

Washington State

Washington state, directly north of Oregon and east of the Cascade Mountains, benefits from extended daylight hours that contribute to prolonged grape ripening, making it well-suited for the cultivation of bold, rich Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot. Within Washington state, Columbia Valley AVA is the largest growing region, renowned for its unique terroir.

CHATEAU STE. MICHELLE - 14 HANDS

WASHINGTON STATE

14 Hands is inspired by the unbridled spirit of the wild horses that once freely roamed eastern Washington and the Columbia River Valley.

This unique and beautiful landscape that gave these unbridled horses their spirit and tenacity now feeds the vineyards of 14 Hands. With loamy-sand and gravel soils, these hills require a strong and determined grapevine resulting in big, bold, juicy red wines and crisp, fruit-forward white wines.

Longtime stewards of the land, 14 Hands is committed to better understanding and nurturing the land they farm. In the vineyards, they have partnered with Washington State University to carry out innovative research and develop cutting edge techniques for soil management. The vineyards maintain a registered virus-free mother block of disease-resistance wine grape vines. And the use of native green grasses and cereale grains as cover crops to boost both plant and animal diversity.

With the fruit from the hardy vines, the Prosser winery handcrafts big, fruit-forward reds and crisp, juicy whites that pay tribute to the legend of the region.

CHATEAU STE. MICHELLE - COLUMBIA CREST

WASHINGTON STATE

Nestled alongside the Columbia River in eastern Washington, Columbia Crest was the very first winery in the acclaimed Horse Heaven Hills AVA. Since opening their doors in 1982, the winery has maintained its commitment to quality, its Washington State heritage and craftsmanship.

Washington State and the Columbia Valley represent the perfect grape-growing climate - from the weather to the soil to the vineyard sites. These growing conditions, along with outstanding viticulture and winemaking practices, allow Columbia Crest to create high-quality wines that are true to their varietal character and represent the unique terroir of the region.

Columbia Crest strongly believe that environmental stewardship and responsible practices in their vineyards and winemaking facilities not only help them to make the best quality wines possible but are also the right things to do for both their winery and the community. They were one of the first wineries to pioneer vinifera grape growing in Washington State's Columbia Valley and today, are leaders in viticultural research and sustainability.

Columbia Crest's 2,500 acres of estate vineyards are some of the best in Washington State. With only six to eight inches of annual rainfall, water to the Columbia Crest vineyards is supplied by drip irrigation, allowing control over the timing and quantity of water delivered to the vines and yielding grapes with well-balanced characteristics.

Douro

The Douro is located in Northern Portugal along the Douro River, around the city of Porto. It has a rich history of fortified wine productions, producing a broad range of wines that are fortified by adding a spirit known as 'aguardente' during fermentation which ensures they retain some sweetness. Styles of note are Ruby Port, Vintage and Tawny. The wines are made from native grapes such as Touriga Nacional, Touriga Franca and Tinta Roriz to name but a few.

Jerez

Jerez is located in the south-west corner of Spain, in the region of Andalusia. The region is famed for its fortified wines known as Sherry. The wines are determined by how they are matured, aged or deliberately sweetened. Dry styles of Fino, Manzanilla, Oloroso and Amontillado are distinguished by how they are matured, whilst Pedro Ximenez is known for their concentrated dried sweet grapes. Pale and medium sherry's are deliberately sweetened.

LA GUITA

JEREZ, SPAIN

Manzanilla La Guita is a sherry wine that undergoes aging through the traditional system of Criaderas and Solera in Sanlúcar de Barrameda. This method involves blending different vintages of the same wine to achieve consistency and complexity. Sanlúcar de Barrameda, located on the coast, imparts a distinctive saline note to La Guita, thanks to the influence of the nearby Atlantic Ocean.

The grapes used in the production of La Guita come from the renowned Pago de Miraflores, which is considered the most emblematic Cru (vineyard) in Sanlúcar de Barrameda. Miraflores is a coastal Cru that faces the mouth of the Guadalquivir River and the Atlantic Ocean, contributing to the unique characteristics of the wine. The maritime influence on the vineyards adds a special element to the flavour profile of La Guita.

Being delicate and fresh, La Guita is a versatile food pairing wine. It makes an excellent companion to fresh seafood and shellfish, but is also the perfect aperitif with nuts and cheeses.

Food and Wine: Core Principles Overview

Offering the perfect pairing of wine with food can enhance your guest's dining experience.

While deciding on the right wine to pair with a dish is often a matter of personal taste, there are some core principles that can help guide your recommendations and bring out the best in both the wine and the food.

Matching food and wine is all about balance. A great pairing considers the intensity and characteristics of the food and the wine and creates a balance between them so neither one overpowers the other.

There's usually a dominant characteristic of a dish and that's what you should look at to pair a wine with. Consider the salt, acid, sweetness, bitterness, fat, flavours and spice (chilli) of the food along with the acid, sweetness, tannins, flavours and body of the wine.

Balancing weight

Matching the weight of the wine with the weight of the dish will help create balance. Light wines work well with light dishes and heavier food with more full-bodied wine.

Rich dishes like stews, casserole, steaks and burgers need a wine that won't be overpowered by the food. Bordeaux, Barolo, Cabernet Sauvignon or Shiraz would be good red wines to recommend. Or a full-bodied white such as an oaky Chardonnay or Chenin Blanc could also work well.

Light foods such as salads, seafood and fish would work best with lighter bodied wines, such as Pinot Grigio, Gavi, Chablis, Sauvignon Blanc and Albariño. A dry rosé or a light red wine like Beaujolais or Pinot Noir could also work, depending on the meatiness of the fish.

When to balance and when to contrast

Matching food and wine's intensity of weight and flavours are the most important considerations to achieve balance. But sometimes the best way to achieve balance is to contrast the different tastes and flavours, rather than match them.

A good rule of thumb is to balance weight, balance flavours, contrast fat with acid, and match sweetness. Let's delve into these in a bit more detail with some classic examples.

Balancing sweetness

Sweet foods often need sweet wines to create the best balance, otherwise the wine will seem overly tart and acidic in comparison. Consider the other components of the dish too. An intense rich sticky toffee pudding would pair better with a rich dessert wine. A lighter dessert such as a fruit tart or lemon meringue would be best paired with a wine that is similarly sweet, light and delicate like a sweet and floral Riesling.

Good all rounders

Wine is a very social drink, and it's quite likely your guests will want to share a bottle with their meal. If they're all eating vastly different dishes, this could leave you with a dilemma as to which wine to recommend. Here, you should offer a versatile style of wine that's a good all-rounder and will pair with a broad range of dishes. Something with enough freshness without being too sharp, enough weight without being too heavy and enough flavours to make them interesting but not overpowering, such as an unoaked fruit Chenin Blanc, a soft and light Pinot Noir or a dry Provence rosé.

Acid and fat

Acidity is an important component of both wine and food. Acid in food often comes from tomatoes, lemon and vinaigrettes. You'll want to pair those elements with wines that also have high acidity such as Sauvignon Blanc, Albarino and Picpoul.

It's important to have high acidity in your wine if you have high acidity in your food, otherwise the wine can end up tasting flat.

By contrast, some foods are fatty or oily and don't have much acid, so need wines with refreshing acidity to help cut through the oiliness on our palate and lift the dish. Anything battered or fried like fish and chips, dishes served with butter, creamy sauce or an oily fish like smoked salmon need a wine with high acidity to contrast and cut through the fat. Pairing a sparkling wine like Champagne with fish and chips works well and acts just like the vinegar would do when you sprinkle it on top. So, remember you can use acidity to match the acidity in a dish or you can use it to contrast it.

Sugar and spice

When you put chilli heat and alcohol together, they accentuate each other, making the food seem spicier and the wine more alcoholic. Chilli heat can also make a wine taste less sweet and fruity and more bitter. To help combat this effect, it's best to pair spicy dishes with fruitier wines and avoid those that have high alcohol or tannins.

While it can be tricky to pair wine with spicy food, a good idea is to balance the weight and contrast the flavours. Rich and fatty Indian food made with cream or yoghurt needs body to support the weight of the dish and ripe fruity flavours to contrast with the spices, such as Grenache or Syrah or a full bodied, creamy white wine.

A light spicy dish such as a Thai style salad would need a lighter, fruity white wine such as an off dry Riesling, with the little bit of sweetness helping to balance the chilli. A full-bodied rose or a sparkling wine could also work well.

Food and Wine Pairings

	Salads and vegetables Including vegetarian suggestions	Fish and seafood Linked with sauce, herbs and spice	Pasta and other sauces Consider how light or rich the sauce
 Dry, refreshing, delicate, light whites e.g. Pinot Grigio; Soave; Chablis	Caesar, feta, green, light seafood, niçoise, rocket, tomato and mozzarella, Waldorf salads. Lentils, roasted vegetables, vegetable risotto, roasted nuts	Grilled fish with sauce made using similar wine e.g. salmon, sea bass or tuna with a red wine butter sauce	Balsamic, BBQ, bolognese, cooked tomato sauces, lasagna, mustard sauce, truffle or wild mushroom sauces
 Spicy, peppery, warming reds e.g. Syrah/Shiraz; red Rhône; Barbera; Zinfandel; lighter Malbecs	Spicy salads that support meat or spices e.g. red pepper, black bean and sweetcorn. Stuffed aubergine	Generally too heavy for fish and seafood	BBQ, bolognese, cream-based sauces, lasagna, pepper or chilli sauces to turn up the heat
 Sophisticated, polished, complex reds e.g. Burgundy, cool-climate Pinot Noir, lightly-oaked claret and Rioja	Pigeon or duck, walnut and beetroot, smoked-meat salads. Truffle or wild mushroom risotto. Autumn squash	Lighter examples can work with some richer fish dishes	Truffle and wild mushroom, jus with redcurrant or similar fruit, Bourguignonne, Chasseur sauces
 Oaked, intense, concentrated reds e.g. Barrel-fermented and/or aged Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah/Shiraz or Malbec; Barolo; Rioja Reserva	Usually vegetables will be supporting a full-flavoured meat or dominating sauce. Hearty lentil dishes. Rich, wild mushroom dishes	Too heavy for fish and seafood	Full-flavoured cream- or cheese-based sauces e.g. parmesan. Intense wild mushroom, casserole or jus sauces

This chart does not presume to be a definitive guide – the thousands of possible combinations would require a good deal more space! There are no absolutely correct matches and personal choice is key to what pairings are enjoyed.

What it does is to offer suggestions as to the styles of wine, based on our Wine Expression classification, that work well with various ingredients, preparation techniques and country cuisines.

Meats Linked with sauce, herbs and spice	Herbs and spices Good flavour matches	Spicy foods Contrast with or complement the heat	Cheeses Also consider dessert and fortified wines
Light chicken dishes, black pudding, goose, guinea fowl, ham, pork, veal	Basil, chives, dill, fennel, mustard, parsley, saffron, sage, thyme, wasabi	The lightest spiced seafood dishes	Very mild-flavoured cheeses e.g. Caerphilly, Cheddar (mild). Cream cheese e.g. ricotta. Feta, halloumi, mozzarella
Steamed, braised chicken, pork, veal	Anise, bay leaf, caraway, chervil, coriander, dill, ginger, lemongrass, mint, oregano, parsley, tarragon	Good with Thai dishes (less sweet) and moderately spiced fish and shellfish dishes e.g. fish or chicken tagine, harissa	High-acid cheeses such as goats' or sheeps' cheese e.g. crottin de Chavignol, pecorino. Lightly smoked cheese
Grilled, braised, roast, seared white meats: chicken, pork, turkey, veal. Duck, gammon, goose	Basil, coriander, cumin, ginger, lemongrass, mustard, tarragon	Thai dishes (sweeter). Chinese (Cantonese). Mild or creamy Indian dishes e.g. chicken korma, tandoori fish, red-lentil dahl	Fruity nature makes these flexible with many cheeses. Semi-soft cheeses e.g. Brie, Camembert. Chaumes, Cheddar, Comte
Pan-fried, grilled or braised light meats such as capon, pork, veal, guinea fowl	Strongly flavoured spices should be used sparingly. Good with tarragon, chervil, chives, parsley, thyme	Very spicy food can overrun the wines delicate complexity	Flexible with a range of cheese styles including soft goat's, Gruyère, Emmenthal, pecorino, parmesan, Cheddar
Roast, braised chicken, duck, ham, kidneys, pork, turkey	Bay leaf, capers, chives, cinnamon, cloves, fennel, ginger, nutmeg, parsley, saffron, sesame, tarragon, thyme, vanilla	Spicy Asian dishes with fresh coconut	Some semi-soft cheeses and smoked cheeses work. Wine Training

You have a great wine list, and a passionate front of house team, but are your staff confident recommending wine to your guests? Talking about wine can feel daunting but it doesn't have to be.

We offer a range of wine training courses to help you and your team enhance the guest experience, and crucially help you sell more and better-quality wines.

Not only are our training team all WSET Approved Educators, but they have developed an array of in-house courses that focus on helping you sell more wine.

All our training is delivered in our relaxed style, and it is not only designed to be relevant and interactive, but also fun.

We have a bespoke programme of in-house courses, designed to meet a variety of objectives. Our half to full day courses are a perfect starting point for individuals just starting out on their wine education journey.

We offer:

Wine Confidence

Developing the skills to recommend wine with confidence

Wine Champions

A cascade approach to learning for supervisors and managers

Working with Wine

The perfect first step for those new to wine (and tight on time!)

WSET Qualifications

As Approved Programme Provider for over 16 years, we offer Levels 1, 2 and 3 in Wine.

Our team of educators offer more than just the WSET syllabus. Bringing the topics to life, we make these in-depth courses relevant to your business. All our WSET courses come with access to our exclusive e-learning portal, with specifically designed resources to support you to achieve the best grade possible.

WSET

Train the Trainer

An interactive half-day workshop for those who want to learn how to effectively cascade their wine knowledge to their staff.

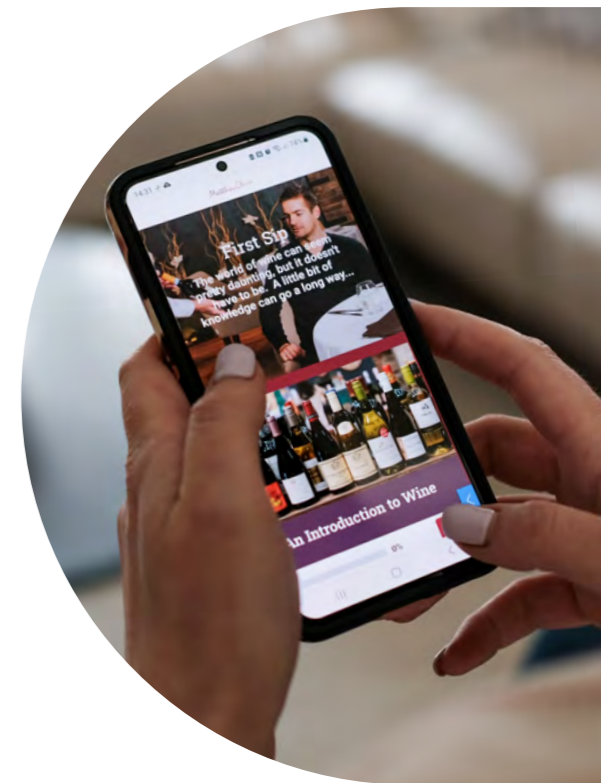

Wait - there's more?

We also offer bespoke sessions, training on specialist subjects and other product categories too. Quite simply, if you need it, we can design it.

Going digital

Taking training beyond the classroom has never been more important. We have a variety of e-learning content that will help you to effectively and efficiently upskill your teams in the wines you sell. All the content has been created by our Wine Educators, who have designed the resources to be as fun and as interactive as one of our training courses.

We offer four levels of content:

1. First Sip

3. Wine Confidence

2. Wine Essentials

4. Beyond Grapes

First Sip is a fun and interactive wine course that takes approximately 20 minutes to complete and is designed for those with little or no wine knowledge.

Offered to all customers on a complimentary basis, the course includes topics such as:

What wine is

Where wine is made

How to describe wine to a guest

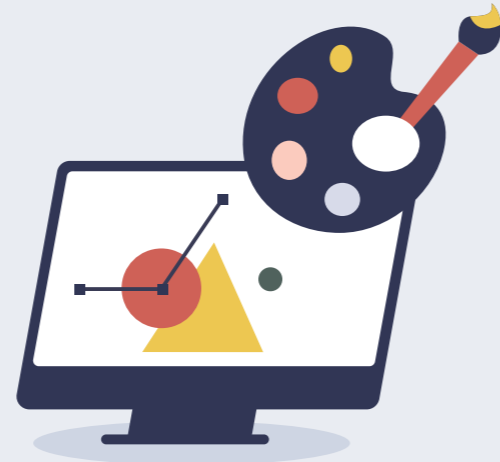

How to serve wine
